DO YOU KNOW HER?

BY MONROE H. ROSENFELD.

A dainty, witching sprite,
With lovely azure eyes!
A laugh of sweet delight
That breathes of Paradise!
So arch in every way,
So winsome and demure;
This peerless maid,
In gems arrayed,
Would win your heart, I'm sure!

She wanders thro' the dells,
And by the silver brooks;
The lovely lily-bells
Peep from the mossy nooks;
They know her step so well,
And watch her while she goes;
And wood birds sing
A welcoming,
While nods the blushing rose.

A maid beyond compare!
The world's in love with her!
And, oh! her step, so fair,
Is light as gossamer!
She wins your heart, and then,
While all the earth's in tune,
She bids good-bye,
Without a sigh,
This witching maiden—June!

THE STOLEN PLAY.

BY J. C. NUGENT.

They had squared the board-bill in Scottsville and reached Hixler by a scratch. Blair and Hardy, leading man and comedian, respectively, filled their pipes and lounged on the bed, looking with sedate eyes at the bare walls of the dingy hotel room. Cigars, even cigarettes, were a luxury in the present financial state of the Murray Comedy Company.

"Murray is a hustler," said Hardy, between puffs, referring to their manager's adroitness in prevailing on the Scottsville landlord to accompany the aggregation to the present town, instead of holding their trunks. Blair looked disgusted; there were already two landlords with the show.

"That play of mine made a hit Saturday night," continued Hardy, his youthful freshness unchilled by the other's tired disgust. Blair arose and walked to the window with the listless air of an actor who is either broke or playing on a guarantee. At the drug store across the street a few rustics were warily buying tickets for the opening night. The Murray Comedy Company played a week in each town and had not seen a salary day, or a street car, in six months. Nevertheless they put on the latest metropolitan successes with assurance—and eight acting people—as only a repertoire organization can.

"It makes me sick," said Blair, looking wearily at the lifeless village street. The present experience was new to him. He was a thoughtful, scholarly looking man, who had seen better days, but the theatrical ladder is uncertain. Hardy looked at his room mate with a sort of hero worship. To rub elbows with a man who had actually played in New York; who was on speaking terms with some of the celebrities of the age, was the nearest approach to greatness that had yet fallen to the lot of the young comedian from the West. Hardy was merely one of the great army of country town players who flood America, but in a certain village of southern Illinois Allie Brown, the minister's daughter, received his weekly letter with proud blushes and vaguely confused his name with those of Booth and Jefferson. Blair returned from the window and as he again lay down on the bed a copy of the weekly dramatic paper rustled in his pocket. It was the only connecting link between them and the outside world. With the liberty of Bohemianism, Hardy reached for the paper and commenced its perusal for the fifteenth time.

"Billy Marquette's play has made a hit in New York," he said after a pause. "He was with Murray last season and read the play to him, but Murray turned it down."

Blair's face lighted up with an animation that transformed it.

"Murray's a fool!" he said. Hardy looked at him in wonder.

"He put on my play," he began slowly, but Blair cut him off with a fierce "that proves it!" and the animation left his face as suddenly as it had come. He reached to the floor, and putting his pipe down, shut his eyes. Then the silence closed about them again—the silence of a country town hotel—the pitiful, pathetic monotony of a country actor's life.

Hardy's lips quivered; he had been waiting all day for some word of commendation for his little play. But, although the Scottsville audience had yelled themselves hoarse, none of the company had vouchsafed a word. Yet they were not unkind; they understood, as only actors do, the danger of praising a very young man.

Something of Hardy's disappointment must have reached the elder man, for after a time he turned toward his companion, a slight return of the animation gleaming in his half closed eyes.

"Your play was not bad, my boy—not bad at all, but," with a yawn, "you don't know—that's all!"

"I am willing to learn," said Hardy in a pained tone, "you might tell me."

Blair regarded him with something of admiration; modesty is so rare in the young.

"Oh, if you could only write as you speak," he said, "with the same ring of truth and sincerity! Don't you know—" and he raised on his elbow. "Don't you know that you must make your characters act as men act, and speak as men speak. Those room, the wondrous animation returning to his face.

"Still," he said, pausing and smiling at Hardy, as one who is about to repose a confidence in an inferior, "I believe I would kill the man who would steal anything from my play."

Hardy sat bolt upright.

"I knew it!" he cried. "I knew you had written something! Oh, if you would only read it to me!" Blair's smile turned to a quizzing look. Hardy flushed.

"Surely, you don't think that," he said hotly. "I only want an idea—I only want to know."

both. She did not understand his foolish ambitions—his foolish pride. Besides she needed a man to manage her business affairs, etc., etc. He smiled at this last subterfuge. Business was a sealed book to him. Still, most men would have preferred her love and luxury to such nomadic wretchedness as this. Perhaps he would have preferred it if she could only sympathize—if she could only understand.

Hardy's footstep, mingled with a daintier one, sounded in the hall. He had met the new leading lady—a long talked of acquisition to the company, who, only last year, was a city favorite. But the theatrical ladcles and managerial sanctums he had become a familiar and dreaded figure; but the recent great success of Edward Brant's play had placed the American pastoral drama in the ascendant, and at last Hardy's precious manuscript had been read, accepted and scheduled for an early production. How elastic his step was as he left the great man's office and turned again toward his dingy downtown lodging house. Never mind, he and Allie would soon live in one of those palatial Broadway hotels. Four years of struggling with the world had not sullied his boyish love.

A man in broadcloth and silk hat passed him—a man surrounded by a group of admiring friends.

"The great author—Edward Brant," some one said.

He did not see the face but the familiar, erect figure haunted him. Well, he would wear broadcloth too. How proud Allie would be; he would write her that same night. There could be no mistake; the signed contract pulsated in his breast beside her picture. When he reached his lodging house a motley group had assembled before the door. A poor woman had fallen to the sidewalk. They said she was drunk; something told him she was only hungry. He had her carried up stairs and ordered the doubting landlady to give her a room. The doubts fled when he paid the bill in advance. After he had procured her food and medicine he heard her story. Her once ample means had been lost in ill advised speculations; her husband had deserted her for another; she had come to the city to search for him and had wandered in hungry, aimless misery until she fell.

In addition to his contract Hardy had received a sum as advance royalty. During the next few weeks, despite the busy rehearsals of his play, he did not forget to care for the pale faced woman, but, with all his kindness, she sank day by day. The night of the opening came.

The house was crowded with critics and first nighters. The first act was received with pleased surprise; the second with excited rapture, and the great climax of the third with wild delight. Such marvelous character drawing and simple, original strength was a revelation. Yet a peculiar smile on the face of one critic deepened as the play progressed. He left the theatre before the last act, and hurried to where, a few blocks farther down the street, Edward Brant's play was still running triumphantly. He entered by the stage door and met the great actor-author a moment after the falling of the final curtain. A brilliant woman at Brant's side glanced coolly at the critic. She was a metropolitan favorite. She had once "done leads" with the Murray Comedy Company. The theatrical ladder is so uncertain.

After a whispered word the manager was also summoned and a hurried consultation held in the dressing room, from which Brant emerged with pale face and gleaming eye.

"Yes, I remember him now—the cur!" he said, "I'll kill him!"

But the manager was a business man; he urged legal action, and his reasoning finally prevailed. Whatever the critic saw had escaped his fellow critics, for the morning papers were full of the Hardy "hit," and gave graphic reviews of the play and interesting, though garbled, accounts of the author. The hero of all this read the glowing notices in his room at the old lodging house where he had remained thus far on account of the woman dying across the hall, but he must arrange for her somehow and leave that day for more respectable quarters. It was due to his new position. Rapidly he passed from one paper to another. All of them teemed with praise. Success is sweet and its first smile is bright as a promise from God. The last paper, an obscure sheet, made a departure. After much commendation, it said: "But under all this cleverness there lurks that which makes the new author's claim ridiculous—the skeleton of the Edward Brant play. How is this?"

A light burst upon him. He recognized the erect figure he had passed on Broadway. The paper fell from his fingers; he covered his face with his hands and groaned. He had not meant to steal anything. Most unconsciously and innocently he had built his work around the impression left by the reading of Blair's play two years before. Lines and plot, story and atmosphere, were all so different that the two could not possibly conflict! but the underlying idea and one or two of the strongest situations were undeniably present in both plays. He had not stolen anything; he had only digested another man's idea and made it his own!

But the copyright laws were strict and Brant was vindictive. In a few moments an officer came up and arrested him. So this was the end of his dream. Poor Allie! Even in his dazed agony he did not forget the woman across the hall. He asked permission to speak to her. The officer consented and stood outside. Brant came up stairs cursing the officer for his carelessness. He dashed into the sick room and gazed into the eyes—of his dying wife! Hardy, who was kneeling by the bedside, looked up.

melodramatic shudders you have worked into that blood curdling thing of yours would, in real life, precipitate a riot or a revolution. So much for the influence of cheap idiots like Murray. Get out of this atmosphere as soon as you can, and you may do something."

Then realizing that he, himself, had not escaped the Murray atmosphere, he added compromisingly:

"Still, you have a really wonderful faculty of putting things together—you have ideas from twenty old stock plays in that hodge podge, and yet, unless in a critical city production, not one of them would be recognized."

Hardy's face, which had brightened, fell again. In a vague way a critical city production was not beyond his dreams.

"I didn't mean to steal anything," he said. "Any ideas, I mean."

"You have stolen nothing," returned Blair generously, "you have only digested other men's ideas and made them your own. It was infinitely wiser than to have attempted an original flight, and in these places," with a wave of disgust toward the village street, "what does it matter!"

Then he arose and paced up and down the

"I was joking," Blair said calmly. Then, after studying the boy's face for a moment, he went to the trunk, drew forth an old manuscript, and, seating himself beside the bed, began to read.

Half an hour later Hardy went out of the room with a radiant face. A world of new ideas surged through his brain. Hot throbbing ambition made the room too small for him. He must go out into the open air where he could breathe and dream of success—and of Allie. He could write like that, but he had never known before that such absolute simplicity, such uncompromising fidelity to nature, was the art which made men truly great.

When Blair was left alone he smiled at the memory of the boy's enthusiasm; then sighed and returned the manuscript to his trunk. He had kept the play for ten years, during which time he had lost his illusions. It has been refused a reading by every reputable manager in America. After a time he drew a letter from his pocket and read it again and again—a wife's pathetic appeal, begging him to come home and give it up. These long separations were eating her life away, and it was all so unnecessary, as her income sufficed for them der is uncertain. Hardy was introducing her to the various members of the company. Allie's picture was in his pocket, so he was only courteous to this brilliant woman, about whom hovered the glamor of cities. Yet his cheek tingled as he noted her look askance at his threadbare clothes. There was something triumphant in his manner as he called Blair out and introduced him.

Blair, who for months had starved for congenial companionship, became interested at once, so Hardy's friend was lost to him and appropriated by the new arrival. She could sympathize—she could understand.

It was in New York City, two years later, that Harry Hardy's play was accepted by one of the big producing managers. After the Murray Company went to pieces somewhere in Pennsylvania he had returned to his Western home and labored for a year over it—a year during which the village scoffed at him as a failure; during which only Allie encouraged him and cheered him on; during which the strict copyright laws were passed which gave the American author a chance.

Then there was another year of walking up and down Broadway. In the play agen-

To this end Mr. Albee and A. Paul Keefe made a trip to Chicago and elsewhere, the outcome of which was a meeting of eighteen managers, from all parts of the country, here in Boston, May 18, which continued far into the night and all day Saturday. At that time the plan of the association was laid before the managers. Several of those present, appreciating for the first time the full scope of the association, urged from the outset that as many other managers brought into the association as possible, and that the organization be made permanent as it could be made. A committee had been formed meanwhile to confer with F. F. Proctor. This committee reported favorably at a meeting held at Hyde & Behman's Park Theatre, Brooklyn, on May 21, and on May 22 an understanding was arrived at that Mr. Proctor, Mr. Albee and Mr. Keefe should return to the Hoffman House, which was satisfactory to both.

In addition to a full debate by the members, the legal aspect of each item of the agreement was argued before the counsel of the association, in order that the organization might be legally as well as commercially sound. The plan of the association was operative at once, and as soon as possible comfortable and commodious booking offices were to be started here and in Chicago. They be sufficiently large to accommodate the representatives of the different interests, and provide reception rooms for both men and women performers. The usual disagreeable agency features will be obviated by the use of separate offices, and every effort will be made to transact the business of the association in an expeditious manner as possible.

Each member of the organization fully realizes the vital importance of the movement, and expresses himself satisfied as to the manner in which his interests are safeguarded, and for the first time a vaudeville association built upon a solid foundation has been launched. With the exception of the natural friction arising from an apparent conflict of interests, the meetings have been remarkably harmonious and free from personalities.

On May 28 the Eastern board of managers organized in this city, F. F. Proctor (represented by J. Austin Fynes, as proxy) being elected secretary. The board then selected a splendid and spacious suite of four offices in the St. James Building, Broadway and Twenty-sixth Street, this city. Decorators and furnishers are now at work, and it is expected that the offices will be open for business on or about June 15. D. R. Hennessy, of Cleveland, was elected by the board as manager of the Eastern office, and he arrived in town last week to begin work. Mr. Albee will have charge of the fitting up of the offices, and it is likely that they will be a revelation in the agency line. Perfect harmony seems to exist among the many various interests. Any good performer may now book a route of from thirty to fifty weeks, at a minimized railroad expense.

OUR LONDON LETTER.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

Nothing of more than minor importance has been produced here since my letter of May 9, but the theatrical market has been busy nevertheless with operatic revivals, and foreign plays or revivals in foreign tongues of plays already familiar here in English. The Covent Garden season started 14, with "Faust" and Duse at the Lyceum has given a number of plays, including "Magda" and the Italian version of "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray." Her season is a success and will probably be extended. The opera season is also sure to score heavily from a financial point of view, in spite of the number of fashionable people in mourning over the war, for all the seats and boxes open to subscription were taken some time ago. Melba was too ill to appear at the opening performance, but is reported to be mending rapidly.

COMEDY THEATRE.—"Kenyon's Widow," a comedy, in three acts, by Charles Brookfield, was produced 12. This play was written to order for Janet Steer, who has taken the Comedy for a season, and the rehearsals were stormy. "Produced under the personal protest of the author" strikes me as being very neat, indeed. It was also produced to a considerable degree under the personal protest of the audience, whose reception of the play was far from friendly. The story is another of the latter day pictures of fast life in well to do society, and Mr. Brookfield's little lot are about as warm as the crowd that pattered about in Grundy's "Degenerates," if not even a few degrees further removed from zero. The Comtesse de Chevalign, widow of Colonel Kenyon, is a snappy adventuress, with a miscellaneous following of good, bad and indifferent gentlemen and ladies. A good one is young Lord Chevon, who has tons of coin, and a bad one is Benjamin de Nevers, a money lender, with the usual stage hardness of heart and wickedness of purpose. He holds over her head a forged note, purported to have been signed by the young nobleman. There is, of course, a spotless damsel as a foil to all these shady people, and his lordship falls in love with her. The wicked widow is forced by the money lender to coax the young fellow to sign what he thinks are marriage deeds—as he is going to wed the lovely young virgin—and among them is slipped a deed giving de Nevers £40,000 in case of his lordship's death. Then a good chance, a cup of cold poison, and de Nevers would be £40,000 the richer. But the comtesse discovers that Lord Chevon is her legitimate son by Colonel Kenyon, and of course she has maternal remorse. She is rescued from this awkward predicament by the arrest of de Nevers by an American detective, Anas S. Burk, who wants him for some former fall from grace, and the detective returns to the adventuress the false deed and also her forged note. She parts with her son and daughter in law elect without letting them know who she is, and resolved to be as good as gold ever afterwards. The cast is rather a long one, and the acting, as a rule, admirable. Miss Steer is, of course, the comtesse, and of the others Vincent Sternroyd is Lord Chevon, Charles Cartwright, the money lender; Fred W. Sidney, the detective, and Edith Outiers, the innocent maiden. The scenery was good and the frocks thoroughly fashionable. The piece will give way to "Pygmalion and Galatea," June 4, when the company will be largely changed. Fuller Melish will play the hero's part.

Many of the most fashionable people in London, headed by the Prince and Princess of Wales, were at the special matinee at the St. James Theatre for the benefit of the Officers' Families Fund. The programme was interesting, as in addition to some songs and recitations there were five one act pieces, four of them new. The first was "The Head of Romulus," by Sydney Grundy, and told a story of a prearranged courtship. Miss Grundy, the dramatist's daughter, was the heroine. "A Charitable Bequest," by Col. Newnam-Davis, followed, and was also amusing. Alan Agnewworth and Lily Hanbury scored hits. Then came "A Patched Up Affair," by Florence Warden, the story writer. The plot had to do with a young wife and an old husband, who are estranged and reconciled. Geo. Alexander and Fay Davis filled these roles, and, needless to say, they did so well. The fourth novelty was "A Loyal Traitor," a sketch of Cromwell's time, acted by Sidney Valentine, as Cromwell, Winifred Emery and Helen Traversa. The name of the author slips me. There was also Mrs. Oscar Berringer's "Plot of His Story," with H. B. Irving and others; Beer-bohm Tree and co., in a scene from "King John" and a scene from Congreve's "Way of the World." Mrs. Tree, Lady Bancroft and Julie Opp recited, and over £1,000 was cleared for the charity.

This troupe of acrobats, which has long ranked among the first in its class, is composed of three men and two women. Pete Cornalla, the founder and manager, in the early 80's organized the troupe as the Three Cornallas. Their cleverness soon won them a place among the best in their line, and they filled many important engagements. In 1892 Mr. Cornalla added two new members to his troupe, and with this increase in numbers came increased popularity, and the quintet became one of the strongest acrobatic features in the country. The Cornallas have been featured with many of the leading road companies and the principal circuses, and also at many of the large fairs held in various parts of the country. They have also filled engagements in the leading vaudeville houses in the United States. During the latter part of the season just closed they were engaged as a feature of Irwin's Burlesques, and are engaged with the same company next season.

for the purpose of touring a piece called "Rogue Kiley," but it was not successful. He attributed his insolvency to pressure by a creditor, whereby his prospects of successful carrying through his touring engagements were damaged. The accounts were not filed, but the liabilities are estimated at about $270, and assets nothing.

A weekly newspaper here says: "An American gentleman with large ideas has conceived the idea of planting a theatre in Regent Street. He proposes to acquire one or two old fashioned shops, pull them down, and on their place erect a plushous lower portion of the frontage thereof being let out in shops and the upper part in flats, the theatre proper lying back. There may also be a restaurant, on Parisian lines. Pulling down shops on Regent Street and rebuilding them is the sort of amusement that usually costs quite a lot of money. Spending money in, however, in form of killing time with which Transatlantic billionaires are tolerably familiar, and at which they usually show expertness. I am assured, moreover, that there is plenty of the useful and this particular sportsman from the States, and that he means business. A theatre certainly would not be out of place in Regent Street."

Ida Irving, late of the Sisters Irving, will, in consequence of her partner's marriage, be in future known as La Mascotte, and will work in the halls principally as a dancer.

An interesting addition has just been made to the attractions at the Royal Aquarium in the shape of a valuable collection of relics of the siege of Kimberley. It has been brought here by Antonio Marceke, one of the Kimberley Town Guard, who was also in his time the keeper of a restaurant there. All are duly authenticated, and consist of Boer and British shells, Boer money, bandoliers from dead Boers, food tickets, and the like. There is also a piece of the shell which killed Mr. Labram, the designer of "Long Cecil," Mauser bullets, both shot and those that have been dipped in veridigis, and other curiosities of the siege. "Cardos" said in last Sunday's Referee: "Many of the latest American papers contain very tragic tidings concerning the sad end of W. W. Kelly (often described as Hustler Kelly), who reported to have died a hopeless maniac, in 'the State Asylum.' Most of the obituary notices give long and detailed accounts of Mr. Kelly's many enterprises in England and America, together with anecdotes, portraits, etc. Everybody, of course, has great faith in the truthfulness of American journals that I must confess my own faith in this connection was somewhat dashed when I met the poor corpse on Thursday night, intently studying these obituary notices of himself with an intense, but chastened interest. It may, of course, have been Kelly's ghost, but it seemed substantial, and it was certainly able to take liquid nourishment. In short, for a dead maniac he appeared remarkably well, both physically and mentally."

At the Theatre Royal, Lincoln, an odd accident occurred in a performance of "The Ladder of Life," in which the heroine is laid beneath a steam hammer, and is drawn out just before it descends. Lucy Sibley was duly placed beneath the hammer by the villains, but the rope holding the shaft broke, and the structure of wood and canvas fell upon her. Miss Sibley suffered a severe shock, but was only slightly injured, and was able to resume her part in a few days.

W. J. Ashcroft, the proprietor and manager of the Belfast Royal Alhambra, has decided to close that house (which opened in 1870) until further notice.

Edward Rainer, who has been for the past two years heavy leading man with Will Godwin, in "A Rogue's Reward," has been engaged by John Lawson to play in "Humanity."

Lil Hawthorne is singing a new song, "Kitty Malone," at the Tivoli, and she is an immense favorite at this house.

J. Woolf, of "Wonderland," Whitechapel Road, is to organize a torchlight procession and carnival in East London at an early date, on behalf of The Daily Telegraph Fund. The procession would have been interesting, but the odds would have been heavy against success, either artistic or financial. Mr. Benson is probably well out of the deal. Had he gone, Kitty Loftus was to have been in the company, but she will visit Paris anyhow in a musical piece during the summer.

Marie Lloyd appears to be in training to follow Mrs. Langtry's lead and go on the turf. At Wembley Park the other day her pony, Little Doll, won a handicap, the prize being a cup worth 20 guineas, and Marie led the winner in.

The fifteenth anniversary of the Paragon was celebrated 17. The plan to run it on the two shows a night plan seems to have fallen through.

Herr Julius Seeth, whose trained lions are so strong a card at the Hippodrome, was arrested on a charge of pocket picking the other day. He was riding on a bus with a friend, when an excited woman made the charge. He was promptly released at the police station.

Marie Dalton, the mimic, has concluded her engagement at the Palace. She went there for a week's trial and remained over eight months.

The loss of the original music for Rostrand's "Les Romanesques," in the late fire at the Comedie Francaise, has caused Mrs. Patrick Campbell to commission Albert Fox, musical director at the Royalty, to compose the necessary music. Rehearsals of this play will be called in English, "The Fantasticks"—are going strong. In consequence of the success of "Magda," which will reach the 100 mark 25, "The Fantasticks" will only be given at matinees, beginning 20.

R. C. Matthews, a theatrical touring manager, late of St. George's Road, filed his own petition, and the first meeting has been held in the Court of Bankruptcy. It appeared that he had during the past twenty years been connected with the stage, either as a theatrical touring manager or as an actor. In 1897 he entered into partnership written sketch, and is played by Mr. Bagge, Myles Clifton and Leona Luke.

A meeting has been held at the York Hotel to discuss the arrangements for the swimming carnival in aid of the Music Hall Home, which is fixed for June 11 at the Lambeth Baths. Among the events are the race for the championship of the variety profession, of which Tom Woodell is the present holder; an eighty-eight yards All England handicap, and the appearance of Champion Joey Nuttal and J. H. Tyers.

Negotiations are in progress between B. P. Lucas, the present proprietor of the Bedford, and G. H. Macdonald, for the purchase by the latter of the hall mentioned. If carried through, the Bedford would be run on the two houses a night system.

The Chinese juggler who calls himself Chung Ling Soo has made such a hit at the Alhambra that he has been re-engaged for four additional weeks.

It is H. Seiber, the European representative of Keith—and "sympathetic interest"—is in London. His headquarters is the Hotel Providence, Leicester Square.

For nearly a quarter of a century John Kendo Rudickitch has been verger of St. Bartholomew's, Brighton. He was born in Japan, in 1828, and was employed in the Alameda's stables at Tokyo. In 1868 he left Japan with the first performing troupe of Japanese which visited Europe, and after performing in many capitals settled in England, and was employed in building a Japanese village at the Alexandra Palace. There he came under the influence of the Rev. W. H. F. Garrett, who was just going on a mission to Japan, and was baptised by the late Rev. Dr. West, at St. Mary Magdalene's, Raddington. Soon after he went to Brighton, and got the church position he still fills.

Some weeks since the Hub-and-Lube, at one of their bazaars, was invited to "Booze" a message of congratulation, written on the back of a menu. Joe Kivin is now showing with pride a cordially worded acknowledgment from the "pocket Wellington," as Hub-yard Kiping calls Field Marshal Roberts, who is proving his capacity for leadership in South Africa.

Edward Terry will produce a new farcical comedy in the Autumn, to which he has given the title of "The Gold Mine." He is adapting the play from the German of Herrn Levi and Jacob.

When "The Mysterious Mr. Bugle" is produced at the Strand Theatre it will be preceded by a new one act play on the subject of Cincarella, in which Mabel Love will appear.

Hortense Schneider, the creator of the title role in "La Belle Helene," is not dead, as is generally supposed. She is at Toulouse, giving a concert.

It is announced that Sarah Bernhardt has decided to increase popular interest in the fifth tableau of "L'Aiglon" by a panoramic, or rather by a cinematographic effect. The scenery of the part of the play referred to represents the vagrant battalions, who, after the battle of Metz, evoked the spirits of the soldiers fallen in light, and whose bodies are seen lying, as it were, "in one red burial blent." To give more reality to the evocation scene, the soldiers are to arise, and this effect will be produced not only by the living and dead, but by the cinematograph. The new effect will be tried on the occasion of the hundredth performance, and it will be reproduced in America when Bernhardt plays there with Coquelin, the elder.

Appropos of Coquelin, Clement Scott, in a recent article, writes of the Cyranos I have seen, Richard Mansfield is by far the best. His love scene under the balcony, naïf, half sung, half recited, is delightful, his French recitation on the battlement a masterpiece of artistic technique. Next in order comes Coquelin, a prince of comedians, but whose love scenes I could never endure. Wyndham, quite as good a comedian as Coquelin, is as Cyranos gentle, easy, but ineffective and inappropriate. As yet I have only seen a single ideal Roxane, in the person of Margaret Anglin, one of the most convincing and cultured of modern, African actresses.

There seems to be a prospect of Ellen Terry appearing professionally at Coventry next Winter. Charles Terry has stated that his sister desires to revisit her birthplace, and that she may be induced to appear at the Opera House, which is to be held at the old Coventry theatre, and it was while he was fulfilling an engagement there that Ellen came into the family in a street near. There are still two "rival" birthplace plates up in the narrow thoroughfare leading to the market. Miss Terry has been to Coventry once—eighteen months ago—since her birth.

The death has occurred at Rhyll, at the age of seventy-nine, of James Davies, the celebrated Welsh bard in Misteddod. He was known as Iago Teging, and his appearance at the Welsh national gatherings as custodian of the bardic sword was most regular.

There is some talk of reviving Captain Marshall's play, "The Royal Family," at a West End theatre in the Autumn.

There must be some rather grim humorists among the promoters of a dramatic and musical entertainment, which is to be held at North Cadbury in Somersetshire, this week. "The proceeds are to be devoted to the churchyard fund, and the place of honor on the programme is accorded to 'an amusing farce' called 'My Turn Next!'"

George Beauchamp, the popular droll, tells a story of recent occurrence. He said: "I have been dining rather too well, and when he took the stage, was not quite so well like in voice as usual."

A hawk eyed gallery boy observed how things were, and shouted, "George, you're bowed."

"I know I am," replied George. "Are you jealous?"

The one hundredth performance of "The Messenger Boy," at the Gaiety, took place 15. During the Summer months the matinees will be given on Thursdays instead of Saturdays, this arrangement commencing on 31. The Lyric is also about to change its matinee days from Saturday to Wednesday during the months when people go away from town at the end of the week.

The German Emperor has invited all the descendants of Karl Maria von Weber to attend the performance at Wiesbaden of Weber's "Oberon," which was composed on the great poem of Wieland. The representation will be brilliant. The harem scenes are copies of pictures which the Sultan sent for this purpose to the Emperor. This version of the opera is one which has had the libretto touched up by the Kaiser.

The leading member of a well known troupe writes to a professional paper complaining that it is next to impossible to get into a first class hall except through the medium of an agent, and yet while the public are crying out for fresh faces, he says, it is of no use going to big halls, as you are met with the same story, "booked up for the next three years ahead," and still he says there is no change in the faces. The editor he addresses does not altogether agree with him, and replies: "I know one or two halls where there is a constant succession of new faces, and some novelties which come to stay, but I could point out a few where his observations apply with remarkable force. I do not quite see how this sort of thing is going to be remedied; but it seems to me that the public are the best judges of the halls, which do really give them constant variety, and so far as I know those managers who do this find their halls among the most profitable."

Charles Lauri took H. Chance Newton's successful dog drama, "Geleit," to the Oxford 15, and will play there till where it is. Lauri will also put on this little play and the lately welcome dumb drama, "A Clown's Christmas," at the Lyric for a series of matinees. His wife, Miss Zanfretta, has recovered from her late illness, and is dancing in the Empire ballet again.

In the Westminster County Court Edward Ferris recovered £12 and costs from Prince Molykoff and Richard Lambert, for two weeks' salary, in lieu of notice. The plaintiff had been engaged to sustain a part in "Nurse" at the Globe, and after a fortnight was summarily dismissed.

T. H. Thalberg and Gerald Gurney have completed a dramatization of Robert Louis Stevenson's novel, "Treasure Island," and will produce it at Glasgow, June 4. The part of Otto Friedrich Wilhelm will be sustained by Mr. Thalberg, and that of the Ironsides by Marion Terry. Royalties will be paid to the heirs of the deceased author, who was strongly in favor of the dramatization.

The Earl of Hopetoun (the Lord Chamberlain) will preside at the annual dinner of the Royal General Theatrical Fund, at the Freemasons' Tavern, 22.

Harvard Arnold announces the production at the Cumberwell Metropole, for the week of 28, of a new drama called "The King's Password," by Mrs. Vere Campbell. Another play by the same authoress, which may be seen later on at a suburban theatre, is called "The Kingdom for the King." Olga Brandon, after a long illness, will reappear in the former play.

Richard Carle returned to the cast of "An American Beauty" 16, and was given a warm welcome. His badly bumped brain was in line working order again, and he will probably avoid any more monkey business while clad in his inflated suit. Others who have recently met with accidents are Edward Lauri, who is resting for two or three weeks with a strained leg tendon; H. Trip Edgar, an injured left eye and arm (slight, fortunately) by a "superb" discharging a gun too close; George Scott, manager of the Southend Kursaal, who broke a leg by jumping from a low window, in order to overtake a friend who was passing; Harry Plean, an injured hand, from a blank cartridge in a revolver; "Conart" Cris, a ventriloquist, a broken hip, from a fall from a motor tricycle, and Hasperly Howard, the veteran dancing master, badly hurt, inside and out, by a fall through a skylight. The old gentleman is seventy-two, and in need of assistance. His address is 52 St. James Road, Barnsbury, London.

The recently recorded death list among professionals includes many well known names. Among them are those of Gilbert Tate, the manager and agent; E. C. Dunbar, the ex-operative and later music hall vocalist; Alfred Roberts, ex-chairman at the Middlesex, ex-manager of the Crystal Palace, and at the time of his death acting manager of the Hoxton Varieties; Mrs. Lydia Cosman, of the Cosman Couple, and Mrs. Ramsay, wife of the Rev. M. James Ramsay, and mother of Ogilvy Keith. Others who were known by professional names were Edwin Forrest (Rhomas Ison), of the Forest combination, who was a well known member of the Terriers' Association; Harry Dashwood (Benjamin John Bell), comic singer, and Adelaide Newton (Mrs. Geo. Maud), oratorio and concert singer. The recent report of the death of the Irish actor, Godfrey, is denied by the young man himself. The story ran that he had died at the front in South Africa, on the very day his father expired in London. As a matter of fact, he is all right, and is at Aldershot with his regiment—he is a private—and he is sick of soldiering and wants to buy his discharge and start a cigar store.

A professional paper here says that the Sisters McNulty, now in the United States, will "sail for England May 30, and open on June 4 at the Aldissee and Hammersmith." They must have booked their passage by a fast ship.

The fourth annual meeting of the Actors' Orphanage Fund was held 18, at the Haymarket, Geo. Alexander presiding. The number of children now being taken care of is twenty-eight, at a cost of about £22 a year each. The expenses of the management last year were only £31, and some £4,500 is invested for the fund. Sir Henry Irving was re-elected president.

The Bro has collected £150 in shilling subscriptions for the Music Hall Fund.

At the Haymarket Music Hall, Liverpool, a boy rushing for a seat in the gallery fell over the railing and was killed. Fred Willmot, the manager, paid the funeral expenses.

That excellent theatrical journal, The Stage, reached its one thousandth weekly performance May 17. For a two penny show it is really remarkable, and the management well deserves its success.

"Nurse" retires from the Globe after tonight, and will shortly go on tour under Guy Waller's management.

The Rev. Stewart D. Headlam has announced in a circular the dissolving of the Church and Stage Guild which was organized to "get rid of ecclesiastical prejudices against the stage." Mr. Headlam thinks that these prejudices "have now disappeared," and a special service will be held 24, at the Church of St. John the Baptist, Great Marlborough Street, to rejoice over the new state of affairs.

The divorce mill here has been grinding rather briskly of late, and the variety profession have been interested in the successful suit brought by Ada Reeve against her husband, Gilbert Joseph Hazelwood, known professionally as Bert Gilbert. They were married in 1894, and have two children. Mrs. Gilbert sued for divorce in 1898, in Australia, but she withdrew the action. George W. Craig, late of Paul Martinetti's Co., and now with Fred Karno, has secured a divorce, and the custody of his child, from his wife, known professionally as Dora Tuily, who made no defence. The most sensational case, however, has been that of Mrs. Charlotte Granville Sygne, who in public life is the well known actress, Miss Granville, and now a member of Geo. Alexander's Co., at the St. James. She sued her husband, Major H. Sygne, a retired army officer, who herself is a daughter of General Stuart and charged him with misconduct and desertion. The misconduct was, in the jury's opinion, proven, and the judge discharged them and listened to arguments as to the desertion himself. He declared them not proven, refused the divorce and granted a judicial separation. The custody of the child has yet to be settled. Apropos of Madame Melba's recent divorce on your side of the Atlantic, a paper here remarks:

"That Melba's husband has at length divorced her need surprise no one, for he has been the best part of ten years about it. It was in the Winter of '91 that Mr. Armstrong first threatened proceedings, when Nellie was singing at the Opera House in Paris. And she, fearing she might be served with the citation, confided her trouble to the director, who filled the passages and corridors of the great theatre with policemen and detectives as the dice passed through. Mr. Armstrong based his divorce suit against Mme. Melba on the ground of desertion, and having been granted relief, obtains the custody of their son, a boy of sixteen. It will be remembered that Captain Armstrong once called out the Duc d'Orleans, but that spiteful and chivalrous Prince replied that, being of royal blood, he could not cross swords with a mere commoner."

That lively return of "Black face comedy" George Washington ("Pony") Moore is all but well again after a severe illness, during which he underwent a severe operation. Henry Beauchamp has also undergone a severe surgical ordeal successfully, as have George R. Sims, the dramatist, and Tempair Haze, the vocalist. The Encore says that Moore has had his "voice clipped" and expects to be in better voice than ever in a week.

JOHN W. VOGEL writes: "The John W. Vogel & Arthur Denning Minstrels closed the season at Mt. Clemens, Mich., April 2. It has been the best season, both from an artistic and financial standpoint, I have ever had. We played forty-six weeks of uninterrupted success. The time for next season is booked solid at increased percentage. Everything will be entirely new for the coming tour, and money will be a secondary consideration in my endeavor to surpass all previous efforts in producing minstrelsy perfect in every detail. The company is complete, but negotiations are pending with a high class sensational novelty, which I will feature as a special added attraction. The palace car 'Flora' has been sent to the shops for a general overhauling. Will P. Webster, for years identified with leading minstrel organizations, has been engaged as business manager, replacing Edwin De Courcy."

THE GRAND AFRICAN FRATERNAL ORDER OF EAGLES held its 23rd annual meeting in Vancouver, B. C., May 22-24, and transacted a great amount of business relating to the order. They are this week at the Fifty-eighth Street house, with June 11 at the Ocelon Park, Jamestown, N. Y. They are at work on a new act for next season, and are booked solid except two weeks.

HARRY MORRIS, May Howard and Sam A. Scribner and wife have reached Carlsbad on their continental pleasure trip. They will remain there three weeks, open at home on July 14 to begin active operations for next season. Mr. Morris and Mr. Scribner have purchased a dramatic novelty, in the shape of a musical farce comedy, entitled "Berlin After Dark," which they will place on tour in America season of 1901-2, with a specially produced production. Their communications to THE CLIPPER have thus far been brief, but we expect to have an extended account of their journeyings from Miss Howard for an early issue. All are in the best of health, and are enjoying their opportunities for pleasure to the greatest possible extent.

RUTH GARNOLD, of Garnold and Gilmore, closed a season of forty weeks with the Little Egypt Burlesquers in Boston, June 2, and will go direct to her home in Cameron, Mo., for a few weeks' vacation, after which she will return East and play dates. E. T. ZIEGLER will have the general direction of the Cincinnati Fall Festival Association's celebration in the Queen City, from Sept. 19 to 29. Among the features will be a flower parade, nightly spectacular allegory, with tableaux, in the Music Hall; a horse show, tennis, golf and athletic tournaments; highly electric pagodas, a trades and manufacturers' parade, fireworks from moving boats on the canal, a mammoth Midway and many other attractions. The festival will end with a grand carnival, which, it is intended, shall prove a fitting wind up for the great affair. The flower parade will eclipse anything in that line yet attempted. Three or four hundred carriages, all, of course, beautifully decorated, will be in line. This parade will take place on Thursday, Sept. 19. It will meet the Harvest Queen at the river and escort her to the reviewing stand at Fountain Square, where she and her court will review the parade, and at this point the judges will make the awards for the best decorated vehicle. Afterwards the queen will go to Music Hall, where she will inaugurate the festival with appropriate ceremonies. The great exposition buildings will then be thrown open. Floral Hall, Power Hall and the auditorium will be filled with numberless attractive displays, such as pony shows, liquid air exhibits, a poultry show, floral competitions, trap shooting contests, a dog show, a baby show, band contests, drill contests, country fair, etc. And outside, both banks of the canal, from Twelfth to Fourteenth Streets, will be secured for the German Village, performing animals, vaudeville shows, acrobatic contests, sports and attractions of a like nature.

FRANK BINNEY has taken the management of the Royal Music Hall, Savannah, Ga.

PENNSYLVANIA.

Philadelphia.—Two more of the local theatres very wisely closed their doors for the Summer on last Saturday night, and two are announced to follow suit with the end of this week; but this is to some extent offset by the reopening of a house in the Southern section of the city for the current week, and the announced opening of the Grand Saturday afternoon, 9. Considering the weather conditions and the time of the year the theatres fared very well during the past week. The competition of the parks is greatly strengthened this year by the furnishing of vaudeville entertainment at each of them for a small price of admission, thus enabling the amusement seeking public to combine their outdoor excursion with a form of light theatrical entertainment. The list for the current week includes one novelty, "Saved, a Strand," a new one act play, by Carl Herbert, and presented by his stock company at the Park Theatre.

WALNUT STREET THEATRE (Frank Howe Jr., manager).—Tuesday evening of this week is announced as the fifth local performance of "Man'selle 'Arking" at this house, but owing to delay in securing novelties for the occasion, it will be celebrated on Thursday evening, when ornamental trays, embellished with a picture of Josephine Hall, will be distributed to those in attendance. The attendance is holding its own remarkably well. The company is to begin an engagement at Atlantic City late this month, and it is likely that the local engagement will not be terminated until it becomes necessary by reason of this contract.

PARK THEATRE (C. Herbert, manager).—This week the Herbert Stock Co. appears in a double bill, consisting of the farce, "My Awful Dad," and a new one act play by Carl Herbert, entitled "Saved, a Scandal." The latter, it is announced, being given its first production on any stage. The performance of family was highly praised by the local critics last week, and the audiences, though by no means large, were thoroughly appreciative. The company, while containing no stars, is capable all the way through, and shows the effect of careful stage management.

FOREPATON'S THEATRE (Mrs. John A. Forepaugh, manager).—For this the closing week of the season at this house, the stock company is seen in three plays, "Camille," "The Little Detective" and "The Lady of Lyons," each being given two after-noon and two evening performances in the order named. George Learock, Carrie Radcliffe, John J. Farrell and other members of the company are given excellent opportunity to show their versatility. The praiseworthy performances of "Camille" and the "Foremaster" were largely attended last week.

GIRARD AVENUE THEATRE (Durban & Sheeler, managers).—The Durban-Sheeler Stock Co. is appearing this week in a production of "Quo Vadis," which is being given on a complete scale. There was appreciation for the admirable performance of "Quo Vadis" last week. The production of splendid work in the title role, and the other members of the company neglected none of their opportunities. Business was excellent. "We-us of Tennessee" will be the offering next week, which is announced to end the season.

STANDARD THEATRE (J. W. Emery, manager).—Graham's Blackville Society Co., lately seen at another local house, is announced to reopen this house for the current week.

KEITH'S (George E. Hogle, resident manager).—Excelling bills and a cost interior continue to make this house a popular resort for Summer amusement seekers, and enable it to easily hold its own against the outdoor parks and numerous other warm weather attractions. Charles Dickson and company, in "A Pressing Matter," Matthews and Harris, in "The Second Step," and Evans and Hattie Nawn, in "Pat and the Genie," head the current bill, while good entertainment is also supplied by Gilbert and Goldie, A. O. Duncan, Farnum and Nelson, Bessie Lamb, Three Garden Brothers, Ray Burton, Mignon, McCool and Murphy, Collins and Collins, Margaret Scott and the biograph.

HASHIM'S GRAND OPERA HOUSE (A. A. Hashim, manager).—This is the new title of this house which is to be reopened Saturday afternoon of this week, with a bill headed by "Camille." Other features are: Kitty Miller, Smith, Doty and Co., the Sisters Dunbar, Donohue and Nichols, the Avers, the Batchelor Club, Burto Lowanda Circus, Hayman and Hayman, White and Harris, and Oliver and Bent.

LYCEUM THEATRE (John G. Jermon, manager).—The Lyceum Theatre hold their boards at this house this week, entertaining the patrons with the burlesques, "A Warm Reception" and "A Devil of a Time," and an olio, including: Jessie Cole, Melville and Conway, Toney and Simonda, Heally Sisters and the Armstrong Brothers. Little Egypt and her burlesques played to excellent business last week and thoroughly pleased those in attendance. Next week brings the "White Crook."

TROCADERO (Floyd Lauman, manager).—This house closed the regular season Saturday night, the last week bringing excellent returns and full appreciation for Rose Rydell's London Belles. The house has had a very successful season from every point of view and will reopen some time in August with a strong line of bookings. The benefit for the employees of the house occurred Friday night of this week when a lengthy volunteer programme is given, as detailed last week.

STAR (Dunn & Waldron, managers).—The management announces a temporary closing of this house with the end of this week. During the period in which the house is closed a second gallery will be hung (the theatre at present only containing one), the cantilever system being used to avoid obstructing pillars. It is expected to reopen about the first of August, with alterations completed. Under the able direction of Phil Sheridan the house force this week appears in two burlesques, entitled "The Actor's Troubles" and "The Philippine Islands," while vaudeville is contributed by Le Clair, Frank and Ida Williams, Bryant and Saville, Myers Sisters, Joe West, Jack Jackson, and Mrs. Lillian Lawrence, Wood and Ray Fern and Smith, Thompson and Green, and Williams and Aleene.

NINTH and ARCH MUSEUM (C. A. Bradenburgh, manager).—This house ended a remarkably prosperous season with the end of this week. The house will be thoroughly renovated during the Summer.

OLYMPIA NICKELODEON (Bernstein & Locke, managers).—The house continues to meet with success, drawing audiences of goodly size with continuous vaudeville presented for the popular price of five cents.

WILLOW GROVE PARK (Canton Traction Company, managers).—This beautiful park, located in the Chelten Hills, about an hour's pleasant trolley ride from the heart of the city, has been meeting with its usual success since the opening, May 20. Large crowds have been thronging the grounds during the early part of last week, and the arrival of warmer weather brought a great increase. In addition to the regular park amusements, such as a scenic railway, Moorish maze, electric fountain, and a new toboggan chute, a main of a fine band, furnished by Walter Damrosch, and his orchestra, giving afternoon and evening concerts. Under a tent on the grounds the Equivocal Circus is holding forth, the features including Prof. H. S. Maguire's educated horses in an interesting exhibition, the Flying Orlos, in an exhibition on the horizontal bars; Burio and Wilson, performance on the trapeze; Lowanda, with his educated pony and dog, and Ducrow, with an amusing and interesting performance. There is also a handsome little theatre on the grounds, in which a continuous performance is given the bill this week consisting of the Monte Myro Troupe, the Tobins, Maud Amber, Yarrick, and an exhibition of animated pictures. Everything possible is done for the comfort of the patrons of the park, a new pavilion in front of the band stand (this season enabling one to listen to the concerts with comfort in all kinds of weather).

WOODSIDE PARK (Frank Howe Jr., manager).—There is entertainment in plenty to attract the people to this park, and that the features are appreciated is shown by the large patronage since the opening. The usual outdoor amusements are all present and popular. Excellent music is furnished by the First Regiment Band. A special feature this week is an exhibition by a pair of diving elks, who leap into a pond from a considerable height. By erecting a large tent in front of the old stand it has been turned into an excellent theatre, with a roomy stage and large seating capacity. This is managed by A. Koenig, who is supplying vaudeville on the continuous plan with eminent success. The current bill includes: Marshall, Major Sisters, Horace Landwehr, the Raynors, Iola Powers, the Hildabara Troupe, Flora, and Thomson and Green.

CHESTNUT HILL PARK (H. B. Auchy, manager).—The park is located at Chestnut Hill, a suburb of the city, and is drawing good sized crowds of people, who thoroughly appreciate the beauties of the park and the long trolley ride for one fare. The regular park features are by no means lacking, and popular music is discouraged by the New York Marine Band, under the leadership of Albert G. Rosati. A miniature railroad attracts much attention. Continuous vaudeville is provided in the Wargraph Building, under the able management of William J. Deering. For the popular price of ten cents the patrons are entertained in the tent at Fred Watson, Little Flo La Wagner, Dunbar's goat circus, Lorella, Kennedy and Hayes, Blanche Bailey and moving pictures on the wargraph.

WASHINGTON PARK ON THE DELAWARE (Wm. J. Thompson, manager).—This park is located on the Jersey side of the Delaware just below the city, and offers a pleasant ride as by no means its least attractive feature. The regular outdoor attractions are present in great numbers and appear to thrive well. The electric fountain proves of great interest to large numbers. A large audience is always attentive to the popular concerts by Liberator's Band, Joe Hurlig, of Hurlig & Seamon, controls the amusement at the Casino on the grounds, the management being in the capable hands of A. Wondrich, who presents this week continuous vaudeville by Williamson and Stone, Carlin Sisters, George Graham, Arthur Deacon, Dupre and Dupre, Martini and La Vere. The house has been prospering since the season opened, May 20.

NOTES.—William Leyden has been engaged to play the Lygion giant in "Quo Vadis" at the Girard Avenue Theatre this week. Manager Bradenburgh, of the Ninth and Arch Musuem, will spend the Summer at his country place in the Yocco Mountains. At the Saturday matinee this week, at Forepaugh's Theatre, the customary reception will be held on the stage, when the patrons will have an opportunity to say goodbye to their favorites in the company. A. A. Hashim, of the Grand Opera House, last week filed an affidavit of defence in the common Pleas Court to the suit recently instituted against him by Eugenio Sorrentino, conductor of the Banda Rossa, to recover $2,550 for alleged breach of contract. This suit grew out of the shortening of Hashim's engagement in Boston, and Manager Hashim, in his defence, claims that the band had been weakened after the engagement here by the discharge of many of the most prominent players, and was not up to the standards. Lincoln Park, located some distance down the Delaware, on the Jersey side, is announced to open for the season June 18. The annual convention of the American Federation of Musicians of the United States, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, will be held in this city June 4 to 7. Preparations are rapidly nearing completion for the opening of the Philadelphia Ball Park as an amusement resort the end of this month, presenting a musical and vaudeville programme. The steamer Republic is being put into condition for her daily trips to Cape May, which begin June 1.

HARRISBURG.—The first week of the Summer season was a success notwithstanding the uncertain weather.

PAXTANG PARK.—"Muldoon's Picnic" by the Connors Dunn Co., proved a strong drawing card week of 28. Three days of cold weather were encountered, but business was very gratifying. The company, which is under the management of Rudy Heller, made a big hit, and will play a return date later in the season. During the week of June 4 concerts will be given by the section.

NOTES.—Theodore Vollmer, who was a member of "The Cherry Pickers" Co., is critically ill with typhoid fever at his home in this city. Fred C. Hitter, of the Cameron Clemens Co., who has been ill, is able to be about. A dramatization of "Quo Vadis" by Manager Nathan Appel will be presented at the Girard Avenue Theatre, Philadelphia, Pa., for the first time during the week of June 4. The opening productions will be witnessed by Manager Appel and a number of friends from this city. The work has been passed upon very favorably by several critics. It will be included in the repertoire of the King companies next season, and will be presented for the first time in this city with that organization. Will Deshon, who is now at the head of his own opera company, will manage one of the King companies next season. Fred Welser, late of the Chester De Vonde Co., left 3 for Providence, R. I., where he will lead an orchestra at one of the Summer resorts in that vicinity. J. G. Chamberlain, clarinetist, has joined Rice & Dan's Show, which opened at Ridge, Pa., May 26. The Hazel Wood Co. will open a week's engagement at Middletown, Pa., June 4. J. G. Foley, who has charge of the Elks' Fair, has been unable to select a date. During the past week he was visited by several of the city and other points in the interest of the big event. Indications are that it will take place during the week of July 2. Harry Dore, of the musical sketch team of Campbell and Dore, closed the season with the Indian Maidens Co., at Brooklyn, N. Y., May 26. He will at his home in this city. Prof. John J. Scull, of Lebanon, Pa., joined Liberator's Land at Philadelphia, 30. The opening concert at Reservoir Park, May 30, was a big success.

Pittsburg.—The present condition of nearly all our local show shops is best described by the poet when he says, "Dead silence reigns around, and all is o'er."

GRAND OPERA HOUSE (Fred M. McCloy, manager).—This house is now in the last week of its season, and "The Grey Mare" completed the bill. "Hoselate" was beautifully done and proved a big winner last week.

GOLDEN GATE GLEANINGS.

Hoyt's Farce Comedy Season By the Dunne & Ryley Co. Opens to Big Business—"Sapho" Meets With Favor.

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE NEW YORK CLIPPER.)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—At the Columbia Theatre Nat. C. Goodwin, Maxine Elliott and company began last night their second, and last week in "When We Were Twenty-one," to continued large business. A special performance will be given Wednesday afternoon. Keller, the magician, opens 11, for two weeks.

CALIFORNIA THEATRE.—The Dunne & Ryley All Star Co. opened Sunday night, presenting Hoyt's "A Rag Baby." The house was packed to the doors and the company scored a genuine success. The engagement is for ten weeks. The company includes: Mathews and Bulger, Philip H. Ryley, Walter Jones, Geo. F. Marion, Tony Hart, John W. Dunne, Wiseman's male serenaders, Mary Marble, Maude Courtney, Lansing Rowan, Bessie Tannehill, Louise Rosa, Adlyn Estee, Marion Gunning, Ethel Kirwan and Gertrude Wood. ALHAMBRA.—The stock company, with Florence Roberts leading, presented "Sapho" last night for the first time in this city. The house was packed and the performance was a great success. The advance sale is good.

TYVOLI OPERA HOUSE.—The second week of "The Three Guardsmen," to continued good business.

ORPHEUM THEATRE.—Big business continues here. New people for week of 3 includes: Joseph Hart and Carrie De Mar, Fleurette and Gardner, and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Barry.

CHITRA.—People for week of 4: Gates and Clark, May Nelson, Wm. De Boe, Gaffney and Bruton, Bako and Rice. The cinematograph is continued with new moving views. Business is big.

NOTES.—Thos. McDermott, brother of Maxine and Gertrude Elliott, committed suicide by poison May 22, in this city. "The Grand Opera House has closed." T. Daniel Frawley and the Moroscos will be business associates when the house reopens.

FROM OTHER POINTS.

Continued Cool Weather Favors the Houses Remaining Open, Although the List is Growing Smaller.—St. Louis Still Afflicted By Striking Street Railway Employees and Rioting Sympathizers.—Chicago Offers an Interesting Report of Affairs Out of the Ordinary.

(SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE NEW YORK CLIPPER.)

CHICAGO, June 5.—The week opened with good houses the rule, although there was no offering of new plays. A spell of chilly weather favors the houses still open. Viola Allen opened the last week of her engagement at Powers' to a good house. Well filled houses greeted the beginning of the fourth week for the "Dairy Farm," at the Great Northern. Packed houses ushered in "Henrietta's Tramps" for its third week at McVicker's. The first production of "Lord Chumley" by the Dearborn stock, Sunday, drew a fair house. Edward Mackay made a hit in the title role. Large audience assembled at the Masonic Temple. Light opera drew well at the Studebaker. Under the City Lamp, by the organized Hopkins stock, opened to good business. The Alhambra and the Olympic ended the season with large houses. "Roonoke" opened the last week of the season at the Bijou, to a big house. Good business continued at the Chicago Opera House. Sam T. Jack's was well filled. Milco's Trocadero opened the week with a fair house. Despite the cool weather, there were considerable crowds at Summer gardens. The proposed benefit to stranded members of Martin Julian's Lyric Company did not take place last night, owing to lack of volunteers and the small sale of seats. The lease of the Lyric to Leo C. Teller, manager of the Theatre Comique, New York, is announced. It develops that Robert Wayne, formerly leading man in Hopkins' stock, was attacked by four or five men Saturday night, as he was leaving the theatre, and beaten into insensibility. Jealousy was the cause, it is hinted.

ST. LOUIS, June 5.—The end of the first month of the street car strike finds the position of the Summer theatres in no wise improved. Violence is unabated in spite of one thousand citizens and the enlarged police force. Not one of the Transit Co.'s cars is run after dark, and fear of violence prevents much patronage to those that get through in the day time. The Suburban Gardens, on the independent line of cars, is, of course, doing an unprecedented business. Sunday's attendance could hardly get in. Minstrel and vaudeville are offered. "The Dairy Farm" opened Sunday, and considering the circumstances, had a surprisingly good attendance. "The Beggar Student" is offered, with Mrs. Van Studdiford as prima donna. The management intends to keep open from now on, but until the transit question is settled the business can hardly be profitable.

MILWAUKEE, June 5.—"Surprisingly satisfactory" completely covers the theatrical situation in Milwaukee for this season of the year. Both the attendance and the offerings are beyond expectations, and managers and theatregoers are pleased alike. At the Davidson the Salisbury stock Co. put on "The School for Scandal" and scored a brilliant success. At the Academy the Thanhouser Stock Company produced one of the most interesting of the many plays presented by that company. "Pudd'nhead Wilson," with Mrs. Edwin Mayo in the leading female role, is due for a big week.

THANHOUSER, June 5.—The new open theatre did nicely, though outdoor parks drew immense crowds. "Mam'le Awkins" continued to draw well at the Walnut, opening its seventh week. A double bill at the Park, by the Herbert Stock Company, attracted a fair house. The last of "Forepaugh's" opened well, and "Camille" was applauded by a large audience. An excellent spectacular production of "Ono Vadis," at the Girard, drew patrons in great numbers. Keith's was filled afternoon and evening, entertaining big crowds. The Star entertained many. The Sapho Burlesque presented a card at the Lyceum. The benefit to the employees of Trocadero drew an immense crowd to profit the beneficiaries. The parks were uniformly patronized by large crowds.

BOSTON, June 5.—The Belle of New York entered on its third week at the Columbia last night, with every mark of continued success. The Castle Square Company produced "The White Squadron," to a good matinee and evening house. Keith's bill drew out fair audiences. The Bowdoin Square closed its doors for the season, with George Director Illus. being the last Van Winkle. All the other houses were dark except the low priced vaudeville houses.

KANSAS CITY, June 5.—The New Electric Park had its opening Sunday, to an immense crowd. The vaudeville performance was well attended, Imogene Comer being the headliner. Everybody was enthusiastic over the park, and the day was a big success. At the Grand the fourth week of the Lyceum Stock Company opened with "The Masqueraders" as the bill. The attendance was good, and the company and show were well received.

LOUISVILLE, June 5.—The Fay Opera Co. opened the second week of its engagement at the Auditorium, with "The Taming of the Shrew," before a brilliant audience.

WISCONSIN.

MILWAUKEE.—From all appearances the Summer season promises to be very profitable. The Alhambra closed the past week and has left a clear field to the two stock companies, both of which are putting on elaborate productions at 15, 25 and 50 cents, and packing the houses. Arrangements for Milwaukee's annual carnival, which takes place June 26-29, are also being carried on in a manner that promises a greater success than ever. The numerous side show attractions that were in evidence last year could easily be doubled and still pull out big winners on the week.

ACADEMY (Edwin Thanhouser, manager).—The Thanhouser Stock Co. presented to its patrons the past week the most satisfactory Shakespearean production that has been offered at this house. The staging of "As You Like It" was on the same elaborate scale, one is wont to expect at the Academy, and the individual performance of every member of the company was warmly praised on all sides. Eugene Moore appeared as Orlando, Frederick Paulding as Jaques, Eva Taylor as Rosalind and Edith Evelyn as Cora. The attendance throughout the week was on a par with Winter business. Week of June 4, "Pudd'nhead Wilson," with Mrs. Edwin Mayo in her original role. Week of 11, "Blue Jeans."

DAVIDSON THEATRE (Sherman Brown, manager).—"The Masqueraders," the second offering of the Salisbury Stock Co., proved as big a winner as "Sowing the Seed." The question as to success of this organization has been settled beyond the shadow of a doubt. Aubrey Boncault and Selina Johnson added to their reputation the past week. Ophelia Searle and Leigh Leigh are also coming to the front by their excellent work. Stage Director Sanford, in the first two productions, has left nothing to be desired. Week of 3, "The School for Scandal," followed week of 10 by "The Way to Win a Woman."

NOTES.—Mrs. Edwin Mayo has been especially engaged by Manager Edwin Thanhouser to direct the production of "Pudd'nhead Wilson," and to appear in the part originally played by her for over three hundred nights in New York. Manager O. E. Miller of Coney Island is doing exceptionally well in letting the privileges at his resort. S. Lubin, of Philadelphia, will be on hand with his pictures, and Kemp's Wild West Show has closed a deal with Mr. Miller. Jos. Clauders' Solo Sextette, which has been at the Palm Garden for some time, gave way Saturday, June 2, to Jnos. Rogo's Hungarian Orchestra. Frank Mills, with his "Palace of Mystery," has arrived in the city and taken up quarters in one of the large stores on Grand Avenue. It is Mr. Mills' intention to remain until after the carnival. The Wilt Jennings, formerly in Ada Rehan's Co., has been specially engaged by Sherman Brown for the part of Moses, in "The School for Scandal," which will be put on at the Davidson June 3. The report of Director Leon Wachner to the trustees of the guarantee fund for the season of German productions at the Pabst Theatre shows a total receipts for Milwaukee and Chicago of $52,854.20, total expenses $60,466.74, leaving a deficit on the season of $8,112.54.

EAU CLAIRE.—At the Grand (Moon & Stussy Bros., managers) William Owens, in "A Child of Fools," is the attraction for June 1. Coming: The German Stock Co. of the Pabst Theatre, Milwaukee, June 4; Ill. Henry's Minstrels 6, Frank E. Long Comedy Co. week of 11. J. Iver Anderson and Myrtle French, of the Andrews Opera Co., are at home for their vacation. The assistance of local talent they will shortly appear in the opera "Martha," for the benefit of Mr. Anderson.

SOUTH CAROLINA.

CHARLESTON.—At the Chelora Park business increases each week. Mabel MacKinn, Henrietta Dreyer, Fisher and Clark, Phil and Phil drew good houses week of May 28, and hold over for the current week.

ALPHONSO PHILLIPS closed his season under Wm. A. Brady's management on June 2, and will leave the city at once for the Summer.

PRINCESS THEATRE.—Helen Byron, in "Detmonico" at 6, played to fair business May 28, 29.

STAR THEATRE. (J. S. Shaw, manager).—This place of amusement drew large crowds all week of 28. The card consisted of Lottie Gilson, the Three Polos, Stuart (the male Patti), the Quaker City Quartet, the Rixfords, Franchonette Sisters, and Bert Coote, assisted by Julia Kinsley.

BIZOT. (M. R. Robinson, manager).—The Robt. Hood Jr. Burlesques played to fair business week of 28.

Winnipeg.—At the Winnipeg Theatre (C. P. Walker, manager) "On the Suwanee River" was the attraction May 28, 29. The company was good but business was poor. A Kellar came to a crowded house, and gave full satisfaction. Ward and Vokes opened a two nights' stand 29, to a large house, with an excellent all round company. The two stars were given a rousing reception. Will West, the old time Winnipeg crowd-pleaser, brought his "Soldiers of the Queen," with a full chorus. Mrs. Vokes and Lucy Daly shared honors. The Chicago Ladies' quartet also was well received. The advance sale for 29 was very large. Mlle. Trebelli, assisted by local talent, will concertize June 4.....The Grand Opera House is closed.

M. J. John. At the Opera House (A. O. Skinning, manager) the W. S. Hawkins Co. closed its first week with the "Kamir Diamond," to good business. The second and last week opened 28 with a production of "Quo Vadis," to a large and pleased house. Coming: Patti Casarevue June 11-14....."A Young Wife" Co. arrived in the city May 29, and will play at 7 here until June 7, when they open for three nights.....L. J. Fuller passed through the city May 29, on his way to Halifax to attend the funeral of the Hon. H. F. Fuller.....The Jesse Harcourt Co. laid over here 30, on their way to Fredericton, N. B.

Galt.—Lennon Bros. Circus gave an ordinary performance to the usual crowd on May 29.....The arrangements are being made for vaudeville performers at Idlewild Park during the season. The Street Railway Co. will manage the attractions.

Under the Tents.

THE ASHBEYS joined Ed. F. Davis' show May 28, at Billsfield, Wis., for the season. Mr. Ashbey will also have charge of the concert.

tion of his riding at Orange, N. J., March 21, accidentally fell from his horse, taking with him the skis completely off one side of his nose, and by cutting and putting an ugly gash over his left eye, which required six stitches to close; he was in bed for two weeks, his head was cut in many places. He was unconscious two hours. Mr. Elser has been just returned from the Barnum & Bailey Circus in Germany.

quarters. The Black Tent is an additional attraction for afternoon and night shows. A much larger company than in any previous show has been assembled, and the show is a harmonious one. Success is the result of every effort of the managers. The opening show was given in Augusta, to overwhelming crowds, in spite of rain and mud. Nearly a week of rain had rendered the roads almost impassable, and on April 26 it came to a halt. The show was given, however, and resumed its tour. The following day after the night concert. Friday was not filled, but left out to finish arranging for the Summer tour. It rained all day Friday till Saturday morning; then it cleared up and the night show tent again went up to the skies and a big throng of spectators. Despite mud and mire the popular showmen were greeted with the biggest ovation Augusta ever witnessed. Roster of the show is in part as follows: H. A. Bonheur, vice president; J. R. Bonheur, president; H. G. Bonheur, secretary; J. W. Bonheur, treasurer; managers, Louis Westfall, secretary, E. H. Keetch, Lida Keetch, Edward Brennan, Max Brennan, Sybil Keetch, Jack Lackore, E. N. Whitmarsh, Henry Young, Elmer Young, Roy Blackford, Eph Orinard, William Shannon, J. B. Orinard, Nathan L. Irwin, E. H. Saunders, Wm. H. Orinard, George C. Fuller, "Popcorn George," Chas Britton, T. J. Dawson, Carl Crouse and Louis Westfall, son of Conductor Westfall, who was killed at Winston, Mo., by Jesse James.

Wm. C. E. Eason, while giving an exhibition of his skill as a circus rider, N. J. May, 21, accidentally fell from his horse, taking the skin completely off one side of his nose and cutting an ugly gash over his left eye, which required six stitches to close; besides, his head was cut in many places. He just returned from the Barnum & Bailey Circus in Germany.

THE ARTISTS joined Ed. F. Davis' Show May 28, at Biltmore, Wis., for the season. Mr. Anhey will also have charge of the concert.

NOTES FROM HALL, LONG & ELSON'S CONSOLIDATED SHOWS.—The weather man is certainly good to us and so far since our opening date we have had no rain or wind, and our business couldn't be any better. We have added a troupe of educated ponies. The Steiner Bros., on the aerial bars, are a success. Harris, contortionist, is a marvel. Harry Helms mystifies the natives with his magic illusions and spirit cabinet acts, and a tramp juggling act in the big show is one of the features. Our band numbers twenty-five pieces, and under the direction of Earl Tiedeman plays up to date selections, and is praised everywhere. Our concert is as good, if not better, than the majority of canvas shows, consisting of a minstrel first part, olio, and a laughable farce. Prof. Merle's high diving dog being the feature. We play three nights and one week in cities from forty to one hundred thousand inhabitants. Our show numbers forty people, all told, traveling, cooking, dining and sleeping cars. The CLIPPER visits us regularly each week.

NOTES FROM THE WM. H. GILLMEYER'S SHOW.—On our opening week, in Camden, N. J., business was big. On May 9, in Ardmore, Pa., the home of W. H. Gillmeyer, we were unable to show, owing to severe rain, but continuing all day. We opened in Philadelphia May 21, for a few weeks. On our opening night there were fully 1,000 turned away unable to get in. One of the great features of the show is Madam Yucca, who drives the No. 1 band chariot, with eight handsome horses, in the street, which is quite a novelty. Now Mamie Forepaugh is insisting that the manager allow her to drive chariot No. 2, but wants sixteen horses on it. Manager Golt is trying to persuade her to accept twelve horses, but by the time this reaches you no doubt she will be driving the No. 1. Gillmeyer has purchased six handsome performing ponies, which he has added to the show this week. Willie Lowanda and his trained dog and pony; Miss Wilson, trapeze artist; Leonard Bros., brother act, joined us in Philadelphia. Whittaker is making great success with his jockey act. E. J. Honard, the principal clown singer, has made good with his songs. The show intends to visit the large cities only this season.

NOTES FROM TONY LOWANDA'S SHOW.—We closed a prosperous winter season in Rincon de Cuba, May 3, and organized an entire new company. We are now in the Yucata Abaja, the great tobacco country of Cuba, where the name "Lowanda" has reigned supreme for years. Business is tremendous. The prices of admission are as follows: General admission, $1; reserved chairs, $1 extra; boxes, with four chairs, $3 extra; children, 50c. The company: Tony Lowanda, proprietor and manager; Josie Lowanda, equestrienne; Lillie Meers, equestrienne; Marie Luisa, impersonating Cuban negro dances; Mlle. Rita, sensational aerialist; Juanita Reyes, flying rings; Mlle. Eva, contortionist; the Greenwalds, contortion rings; in Chile O'Brien, jockey and mule hurdle rider; Rita and Humberto, quillbird; Pedro Torres, cloud swing and negro comedian; Aurelio Reyes, clown; Magil Romero, Cuban clown; Daniel Titos, leader of band; Rafael Argote, agent No. 1; Isadore Ortiz, agent No. 2.

CHARLES STEWART McFETRIDGE died at Birmingham, Ala., May 21, from the effects of a pistol shot fired by R. S. Alden, in that city, May 4. The shooting grew out of an alleged assault upon Allen by McFETRIDGE, who was said to be insanely jealous of his wife, Mlle. Rita. McFETRIDGE was a circus man, and has acted in the same capacity for Franklin Robinson, Sells and Jno. Robinson's Shows. His home is in Trenton, N. J. He was thirty-three years old and has three brothers, William, at Cambridge, Mass.; Tom, who is a potter, at Cincinnati; and Joe, a baker, in the same city. He was shot last Fall, at the State Fair at Birmingham, in the German Village on the Midway, and although badly wounded recovered after a long siege in the hospital. His wife, Mlle. Luisa, has at different times done bareback riding, wire walking, ballooning and Spanish dancing.

CHAS. A. OLIVEN informs us that Lebanon, Pa., a town of twenty-five thousand inhabitants, will not be visited by a circus this season.

ROSTER OF ADVANCE No. 1, WALTER J. McDONALD'S COMBINED COLONIAL SHOWS.—Harry Busenbark, agent; Fred Jones, Harry Bradley, Wm. Bundy, Spot Slickles and Frank Cahn, bill posters; Chas. Harris, lithographer; Jack Smith, programmer.

OWING TO THE BURNING of the entire outfit and the winter quarters of Prescott & Co.'s Show, at Rockland, Me., Jan. 27 last, the show will not take the road this season. The winter quarters will be rebuilt at once, and preparations begun for next season. Mr. Prescott has become associated with Arthur La Nell, and they will give their attention to their new Broadway Pavilion Theatre this summer, in connection with superintending the building of the quarters.

LAWRENCE AND SHERIFF have signed for the summer season with the Harman & Willis Combined Shows, which opened its season June 2, at Wheeling, W. Va. They join Marks Bros. Co. September.

FRANK F. LA VELLE and Dr. Forest F. Taylor, after a separation of two years, have again joined hands, and are with Foster & Wilkins' London Circus, touring New York State.

CALIFORNIA.

Los Angeles.—At the Los Angeles Theatre (C. M. Wood & H. C. Pratt, lessees) the Frawley Co. closed a successful engagement of several weeks at this house May 28. After John Drew, 28, 29, comes M. B. Curtis, in "Sam" of Posen, June 4 and week.

MOROSCO'S BURBANK THEATRE (Oliver Morosco, manager).—The Brownies in Fairyland" played a good engagement, ending 28. "The Girl from Chili" 28 and week. The Frawley Co. opens at this house June 3, with "Men and Women," for four weeks.

ORPHEUM (J. Rush Bronson, manager).—Features 28 and week: Newsboys' Quintette, John E. Camp, Chas. Ulrich, Will E. Bates, the Musical Kleists, Mark E. Sullivan, Agnes Fried, Milton and Dollie Nobles, in "Why Walker Reformed." Business good.

STUNTS.—Hans, the trained pig which Little Fred has been exhibiting for many years, died during his recent engagement at the Orpheum, in this city. Fred A. Cooper, who introduced popular price attractions into this community, and was the first manager of the Burbank Theatre, is here ahead of M. B. Curtis. Gertrude Foster, of the Alcazar Theatre stock, San Francisco, visiting her mother in this city. A. Y. Pearson, formerly manager of the Burbank Theatre, in this city, filed a petition in bankruptcy in the District Court of Los Angeles County, May 24, giving liabilities amounting to $31,414.75, assets $100, consisting of clothing. Of indebtedness stated, $13,122.98 is to Liebler & Mann, and $6,977.95 to Richard R. Fox, of New York City. Ed. W. Mansfield, of the Fisher Opera House, San Diego, visited his parents in this city 25. Henry Roberts closed his engagement with the Frawley Co. Monday, 27. H. S. Dunfield received a silver watch box as a token of appreciation from the members of the Frawley Co. 25. Frank E. Murray, who so successfully managed the destinies of the Frawley Co. for several seasons, will, during the week ending June 2, make a vaudeville tour to the public 16, under General Manager J. J. Walsh, with renovated quarters, the installation of a new electric dynamo and an improved and enlarged theatre. Mme. Tavarly is announced for the opening week. The Tremont Theatre during the summer season. The new Colonial Theatre will have a seating capacity of 1,633. Lucius Hosmer will be the leader of the orchestra. A concert in aid of the sick fund of the order of Eagles was given Sunday evening, 3, at the Tremont Theatre, under the auspices of the Boston Aerie, 45. All of the local managers have generously contributed numbers to the programme. Louis Baer, musical director at the Park, and wife will leave Boston 9, for an extended European tour. Henry Jewett and wife are in town.

MASSACHUSETTS.

Boston.—With the close of almost all of the regular houses, and the opening of the parks, roof gardens and open air theatres, the summer season is well inaugurated.

Tremont Theatre. (John H. Schoffel, manager).—The Weber & Fields engagement, closed Saturday, June 2, five nights of S. R. O. Unable to complete arrangements for another week of this clever production, manager Schoffel wisely concluded to close the house week of 4, pending rehearsals of "The Son of Carlevario," which new play will open the summer season here, 11. The new stock company, under the management of J. H. Gilmour and L. J. Rodriguez, includes: J. H. Gilmour, Frederick Truesdell, Wm. Haseltine, Chas. Chappell, Gus Weinberg, Dodson Mitchell, M. S. Mills, Frank Andrews, Florence Rockwell, Annie M. Clarke, Anne Caverly, Lola Hawthorne, Katherine Wilson, Cordelia MacDonald, Chas. Wellesley, Ralph Lewis and Hiram Foster. The management will aim to give the public several new dramatic offerings, with a presentation as complete and artistic as possible. The popular prices (25-75 cents evenings) and two weekly matinees (25-50 cents) the cool, spacious and beautiful playhouse ought to be well filled during the hot season.

COLUMBIA THEATRE (A. H. Chamberlain, manager).—The Belle of New York, in its third week, is apparently as strong an attraction as heretofore, and is on for a run, probably. The promenade concerts form an attractive feature, and it is much to the credit of the management that this innovation has been carried through with such absolute decorum, and with no abuse of the smoking and license privileges.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE (J. H. Emery, manager).—The White Squadron" will be given week of 4. "The Village Postmaster" is due 11, for which Eugene Canfield and Geo. Richards have been engaged. This house bears an unusual record in attendance both Summer and Winter, well merited by an almost weekly change in programme, professed by a clever company, weekly bon bon souvenirs, and free matinee seats for children accompanied by adults.

Kratt's Theatre (B. F. Keith, manager).—The new scale of prices, which makes the reserved seats in any section of the house double the cost of the unreserved seat in that section, and the noon opening, will take effect Monday, 4. This experiment is designed to overcome the dissatisfaction expressed with the no reserve seat plan by patrons who find the desirable seats filled too early in the evening. For week of 4, Lafayette is again the leading feature, this being his last week here. Chas. T. Aldrich, Everhart, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Murphy, Rio Brothers, the four emperors of music, Hughey Dougherty, Marcella, a group of birds, Laura Comstock, the Review Comedy Four, Flatow and Dunn, Alfred Holt, O'Rourke and Burnett, Kelly and Davis, and the biograph are the other announcements.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE (Isaac B. Rich, manager).—"The Rogers Washers" brought the season to a triumphant finish Saturday, 2.

Boston Museum (Field, Rich, Harris & Chas. Frohman, managers).—This house closed its doors June 2, with the last performance of "Why Smith Left Home," to reopen August 27, with Holland's new comedy, Wm. D. Andrews will then become the new business manager of the house.

NEW PALACE THEATRE (Dunn & Waldron, managers).—The new stock company of burlesquers will appear in "The Tuxedo Gayety Club," and a satire on "Tribby," with an abundance of specialties.

LYCEUM THEATRE (Geo. Batteller, manager).—Lang's operatic burlesquers are billed for June 4, including Baker and Lynn, Eckhoff and Gordon, Bulla and Raymond, Igno Orneo, Waldo Whipple and others.

ATLANTIC THEATRE (Max Miller, Marie Pinkstone, Sol Cohen, Isaac Novinsky and Rosale Gardinsky, will be the novelty of the week. Maude Parker's barmaids will dispense drinks in the curio hall. Chicago, Lafonde, La Barr and Mme. Lincoln are the other features with the alternating stage shows.

BOWDOIN SQUARE THEATRE (Geo. Lothrop, manager).—This house wound up the season with the fall of the curtain on "Sapho" Saturday evening, 2. Manager Lothrop announces two closing performances (Monday afternoon and evening) of "Rip Van Winkle," for the benefit of his stage director, Jay Hunt, after which the house will be dark for the summer. Manager Lothrop also closed the Howard Athenaeum Saturday, June 2.

GRAND THEATRE (Geo. E. Lothrop, manager).—Week of 4 will be testimonial week, with a daily change of programme. Monday, 4, Messrs. Thomas and Watson are the beneficiaries, when "Beyond the Rockies" will be given. A host of vaudeville features will be interspersed. Tuesday, "The Diamond Mystery," for the benefit of Frank J. Kent's testimonial. "A Plala American." Thursday, Florence Mark and J. J. Owens will benefit, and appear in "A Wife's Peril." Friday, Lorimer Johnstone and Thos. Carroll, beneficiaries, appear in "The Hunger." Saturday, the season closes with the benefit performance of Mildred Hyland and James Elias, in "Hazel Kirke." The house will reopen Monday, Aug. 6, with a new melodrama.

CHARLES RIVER PARK (A. H. Dexter, manager).—This pretty resort, fronting on the river, has had a very successful first week, its second week's programme announces concerts by the Banda Rossa, the Dawsons, Crane Brothers, Le Moyne, John H. Weber and others, in the stage shows; Champion Marsh, the Kennedys, Alron on the cycle and race track, and Paine's fireworks.

CONSUMPTION PARK.—The usual race track features, during which Lillian Shaffer will exhibit her trained horse, "Boston," are announced. Vaudeville turns between the heats include Cruet, Beers and Cruet, Wm. C. Davis, Maud Amber, Teel's band and Balch's orchestra.

NORWICH PARK.—In addition to the zoological garden and the electric fountain this park boasts a rustic theatre, containing 2,000 seats, free to the patrons of the garden. The Cosmopolitans, including Goolmans, in a musical act; Nelson, Gilsenratt and De-monic, Lang and Sharpe, Morgan and Otto, Scott, Reed's ferriers and fresh wonders to be revealed at the "Mysterious Chalet."

CRESCENT GARDENS.—The huge dance hall and the roof garden have been well patronized the past week. The new rustic theatre will open 16, with a vaudeville bill, the "Norris Point of Pines" will open to the public 16, under General Manager J. J. Walsh, with renovated quarters, the installation of a new electric dynamo and an improved and enlarged theatre. Mme. Tavarly is announced for the opening week. The Tremont Theatre during the summer season. The new Colonial Theatre will have a seating capacity of 1,633. Lucius Hosmer will be the leader of the orchestra. A concert in aid of the sick fund of the order of Eagles was given Sunday evening, 3, at the Tremont Theatre, under the auspices of the Boston Aerie, 45. All of the local managers have generously contributed numbers to the programme. Louis Baer, musical director at the Park, and wife will leave Boston 9, for an extended European tour. Henry Jewett and wife are in town.

Lyons.—At the Lynn Theatre (Dodge & Harrison, managers) Lyone of Elks will present the farce comedy "Night in Bohemia," June 18, with local talent. Immediately after this a force of carpenters and painters will take possession of the house to put it into shape for the Fall opening.

Watson's Opera House (W. B. Watson, manager).—A series of vaudeville entertainments and sparring exhibitions are to be given in this house this summer, under the auspices of the Kirtland Athletic Club, the first to be given 7. Mr. Watson will return from his New York trip this week.

WILLOW PARK THEATRE.—Salem Willows (F. A. Dana, manager).—This rustic theatre opened May 30, with John Weber, Sun-derland and Fooda, Emil Sheverell, trick violinist; Morressey and Parker, Miss Lauretta, and Collins and Medel on the bill. Business was good. The other week's programme will include George W. Fielding, McCoy, Fitzgibbons and McCoy, Nellie Franklin, Mack and Mack and the Ingalls children, cake walkers.

Norris.—Edward C. Stickney, of this city, the strong man, is now training for his summer work. He has but recently returned from a trip through New York State. William O'Neill, of Boston, has nearly completed the work on his Crescent Garden, at Crescent Beach, and will open the theatre in another week. Besides the theatre there is a dance hall and roof garden.

Holyoke.—Mountain Park Casino (W. J. Burke, manager).—The summer season opened at this place of amusement May 28, with a first class bill, and the attendance was very large all the week, over ten thousand people witnessing the performance on Memorial Day. The week was closed with The Four Hills, in a comedy sketch; Mille Corbin, female baritone singer; Cadieux, slack wire performer; the Pattens, Irish comedy duo; Eddie Leonard, black face comedian. Coming, June 4 and week: The Ben Harney Comedy Co., headed by Ben Harney, Edith Murray and Strap Hill. Others on the bill are: Monroe and Hart, eccentric comedians; Edith Murella, character change artist; Frank Houghton, trick bicyclist; Elizabeth Banks, cornet virtuoso.

OHIO.

Cincinnati.—All of the Summer amusement resorts are open this week. The Lud-lagoon, last week, closed its season 9, after its gates June 3. Last week was not a profitable one. It rained every day, and as a consequence the attendance at the resorts was small.

LUDLOW LAGOON (M. C. Anderson and W. H. Ziegler, managers).—The season opened 2, and the closing attractions are offered: G. Kilpatrick, Empire Comedy Quartette, Musical Johnstons, Weston and Allen, and Walker Sisters.

CONY ISLAND.—A high class vaudeville show and concerts by the Cincinnati Military Band will be features of this resort. The band will be featured with the attendance last week.

CHESTER PARK.—Prof. Bartholomew's Horse Show is the attraction 3. The bill in the vaudeville theatre includes Foster and Williams, the Fountains, Grace Wilson, Baxter and Wells, and Edna West.

Gossip.—E. E. Nickerson was the soloist at the Zoo concert last week. Al. Grome, of the Pike, who has been in Detroit the past four weeks, returned to his home in this city last week. Prof. Van der Stucken, of the College of Music, returned after a six weeks' sojourn in Europe.

Cleveland.—The first of the Summer resorts to open in Cleveland will be the Garden Theatre, which opens June 11, and will take up the regular vaudeville bill now being presented by the management at the Emory, which will close the season 9.

EUCO BEACH PARK is the second to open for the public patronage, 16. The manager, Lee Holtzman, has promised many new and extraordinary attractive features. Special attention will be given to the theatre, which will be under the direction of Harry M. Gutz, who will close the season 9. Forty people, will give eleven performances each week, producing two operas. The steamers "Superior" and "Duluth" will again be put into service from Cleveland to the park. Many changes have been made in the park, the present main entrance being the rest of the bill included: James O. Barrows, Kelley and Violette, the baritone and soubrette; Zeno, Carl and Zeno, horizontal bar experts; James Richmond Glenroy, monologist; Maddox and Wayne, and Folk and Kollins, banjoists. The bill next week includes as headliners Rose Conklin and company.

LYCEUM THEATRE (J. R. Cookson, manager).—Here large audiences continue to greet Eugene Blair and her excellent company. "Camille" was the bill week of May 25, and was well received. Wm. Bramwell was a good emcee. Duval. "Carmen" is next week's bill.

STAR THEATRE (F. M. Drew & W. T. Campbell, managers).—The Neil Forence Stock Co. opened for a run of several weeks, and presented "Quo Vadis," with a very excellent cast and evening performances. The rest of the bill included: James O. Barrows, Kelley and Violette, the baritone and soubrette; Zeno, Carl and Zeno, horizontal bar experts; James Richmond Glenroy, monologist; Maddox and Wayne, and Folk and Kollins, banjoists. The bill next week includes as headliners Rose Conklin and company.

Dayton.—At the Victoria Theatre (C. G. Miller, manager), owing to poor patronage, the season at the Victoria Theatre Stock Co. came to a close May 28. The company was engaged to give one performance each week at the Soldiers' Home, but this was necessarily canceled.

LUCAS GROVE PARK (Larry H. Reist, manager).—This resort is announced to open June 3, with a vaudeville company including the Tossing Austins, Mack and his performing dogs, Cildene, trick violinist; Clark and Duncan, and Marie Simmons.

FAIRVIEW PARK (G. A. Henderson, manager).—The Bonton Vaudeville Co. played to fair business week of May 25. The roster included: The Comstock-Burgers, Rice and Burgess; Devaux, Donaldson and Devaux; Clark and Duncan, Mack's dog comedians, Clark and Underwood, Rose Ellis Donaldson, Chas. Swift, Sam Berger and Harry Ballantyne.

SANDERS' ROOF GARDEN (Harry Archer, manager).—The announced opening under the new management is June 4. The company engaged by Manager Archer includes: Mlle. Jeannette D'Arville, La Petite Irene, Carrol and Clark, Billy Randall, Cole and Lemay, Eddie Dunn, Clark and Underwood, George Dennettia, and Alexia, boneless man.

Toledo.—At the Casino Theatre (Frank Burt, manager) bad weather made the attendance light during last week, except on Decoration Day. The bill presented was very good, the work of the Faust Family and the Schlies deserving special mention. The bill for June and week includes: Edna Bassett Marshall and company, Joseph Adel-man, Kathryn Osterman, Gerlie Lewis, H. S. Vickers, Hoy's Marionettes, and Rome and Ferguson. Bookings week of 10: De Hollis and Valora, J. A. Coin's Dog Circus, Kittle Wolf, John J. Welch, and Woods and Ward, in "The Merry Tramps."

THE FAIR THEATRE (Otto Kilres, manager).—The season opened 3, with the following bill: Patrice, Soloret, Sophie Burnham, Tom Mack, Maddox and Wayne. Week of 10: Ellsworth and Burt, the Larells, Heynard, Powers and Theobald, and Dolan and Lenhart.

Columbus.—At the Great Southern Theatre (Lee M. Boda, manager) Willie Collier, in "Mr. Smooth," did well May 30.

OLENTANGY PARK (C. A. Lacy, manager).—"Plays and Players" had fair business week of May 27. Due June 3-9, Hilda Thomas and company, Ameta, Darmond, Lamb Children, Pierce and Egbert and Carleton and Terre.

MINIYVA PARK (C. A. Lacy, manager).—"Two Merry Tramps" drew well May 27. Due: June 3-9, Wilbur-Kerwin Opera Co.

Sandusky.—At the Cedar Point Pleasure Resort (G. A. Bockling, manager) business for the opening week of the season far exceeded former years. Bill for week of 27: Edna Bassett Marshall and company, in a singing act; Rosa Naynon and Clyde Phillips, trained birds; H. S. Vickers, singing comedian, and Frank R. Hoy's monologist. The programme for week of June 3 will be: Coin's comedy dogs, De Hollis and Valora, comedy jugglers; Kitty Wolfe, dialect comedian; Murphy and Mack, in their creation, "Skeevie on the Fence," and Edith Fay, soloist.

SHOW GROUNDS.—John Robinson's Circus comes June 5.

Akron.—At the Summit Lake Park Theatre (Menchies Bros., managers) a large week's business was done. For week of June 4 the bill: Oza and Delmo, Sam and Violet Bryant, Sadie Hart, and Florence and Willie Bryant.

LAKEVIEW PARK CASINO (A. M. Cox, manager).—A good bill pleased good houses week of May 28. Bill for week of June 4: Pat-maria Comedy Co., Raymond, West and Sunshine, Malle Little and Louis Pritzko, Alice Lewis, Rice Brothers, Jesse R. Burden. Despite the fact that it rained incessantly, Ringling Bros' Circus filled the tent twice 31. The Mack-Fenton Co. will open Handolph Park Pavilion 13.

Mansfield.—At Lake Park Casino (E. L. Endly, manager), inclement weather part of the time during the opening week of this resort, May 28, prevented a large average attendance, as was expected, to hear a bill, consisting of the Coin Dog Troupe, Kitty Wolf, comedienne Murphy and Andrews, sketch team De Hollis and Valora, jugglers: Beatrice Gambles, balladist, and Julia Haskell, monologist. Beginning Monday, June 4, the vaudeville bill will contain such entertainers as Wood and Ward, in their farce, "Two Merry Tramps," and twenty vaudeville performers.

RHODE ISLAND.

Providence.—Theatrical business in this city for the past week has not been very good, owing to the hot weather and the lateness of the season. This week finds but three houses open and one of those in its last week. The two houses which have opened for the summer season, and will both offer attractions that should pull the people in even if the weather is warm, as they will give good attractions at reasonable prices.

PROVIDENCE OPERA HOUSE (Felix R. Wendelschafer, manager).—For week of May 28, The Wilbur Opera Co. opened its Summer season to a very large audience. The weather changed and became very warm and business fell off greatly. The company will remain here all Summer and will present light operas, "The Bohemian Girl" and "The Grand Duchess," June 1-9. Aside from the opera they introduce vaudeville between the acts.

EMPIRE THEATRE (Spitz & Nathanson, managers).—This house, which was dark during last week, has undergone a change since the closing of its regular season. A cooling apparatus has been put in and the house opens June 4, for a Summer season. The management have selected for the star Katherine Rober, who will have a very strong company and will appear in standard plays, opening with "Mme. Sans Gene."

KEITH'S NEW THEATRE (Chas. L. Lovenberg, manager).—Business at this house was light last week, owing to the heat. The bill was excellent. John C. Rice and Sally Cohen seemed to get the larger share of applause. Week of June 4 a good programme is offered. The house closes 9 for the season. When it opens again it will be under the proprietorship of E. F. Albee, to whom Mr. Keith has given the house outright. Mr. Albee will retain the name of Keith's New Theatre, and will continue to present the same line of attractions as heretofore seen here.

OLYMPIC THEATRE (Spitz & Nathanson, managers).—Business at this house closed June 5, the closing attraction being Madam Perkins' Original Georgia Co. The company had some pretty good acts and some not so good, but they were very well received for the lateness of the season. This house will undergo a remodeling this Summer, and will open in the Fall bright and new.

WESTMINSTER THEATRE (George H. Batcheller, manager).—This house has also closed its season, and Manager Batcheller says a successful season as he has seen in a long time. This house will be put through the same course as the rest of them, and when it reopens early in the Fall it will look as bright and new as a daisy.

THE BUFFALO BILL SHOW is booked, and as it is the first out of door attractions of the season, it will probably do all the business it can hold. The show places along the bay are beginning to open up, and Rocky Point and Crescent Park will, of course, be big attractions. Each will offer the usual vaudeville.

Billy Walsh closed a seventy weeks' engagement with the Keystone Dramatic Co., at Wilbur's Park, May 26, and joined the Aubrey Stock Co. at Bloomington, Ill., June 3, for the Summer and next season.

MONTANA.

Butte.—Grand Opera House (G. O. McFarland, manager).—The Boston Lyric Opera Co., May 23-26, played to disappointing business. Coming, Barlow's Minstrel 31.

BUTTE'S NEW THEATRE (D. F. Sutton, manager).—The Clara Mathes Co. opened 27, for a four weeks' engagement, in "Heroes of '90," to fair business. Bill is changed semi-weekly, the "Legion of Honor" opening 31.

MONTANA MUSIC HALL (J. W. Kenny, manager).—People week of 28: Frank Pinney, Jerry Owens, Annie Reed, Jim Black, Rita Evelyn, Fay Leslie and Maude Le Blanche.

CASINO.—No change from last week's bill. Gossip.—J. W. Kenny, present manager of the Montana Music Hall, has secured a long term lease on the Casino Theatre, which becomes effective July 1, at which time the house will be closed down until Fall, and in the meantime it will be thoroughly remodeled, and converted into the finest vaudeville house in the West. Another story will be added, among other improvements, in order to make room for a commodious balcony. Fay Leslie, a clever serio comic, now playing the Montana Music Hall, has entirely lost her voice since coming to Butte, but physicians expect she will recover it as soon as she leaves this altitude.

NEW YORK CITY.

Review and Comment.—The season of 1899-1900 has passed away, the Spring has come and gone, and there is abundant and convincing evidence that Summer has arrived. Among this evidence is the waning interest in indoor amusements, and the rapidly growing desire to seek recreation in the open air. On Decoration Day the public parks in this city were filled with countless hordes, and every railroad train and steamboat that led to grass grown field or wave washed beach was crowded far past the limit of comfort. But holidays are few, and men who toil throughout the day must look for rest and recreation when night broods o'er the scene, and consequently they continue to be patrons of stage performances that are given under conditions that do not entail physical discomfort. Vaudeville entertainment given in the open air, and musical comedy furnished in theatres artificially cooled, are sensible forms of Summer entertainment, but there seems to be little reason, after the advent of Summer, for the prolongation of the runs of melodramatic attractions which have already had long innings during the Winter. It is possible for plays as well as players "to lag superfluous upon the stage," and even the reigning success of the season should gather up its laurels and gracefully retire when Spring merges into Summer, for after that time there is little to be gained either of glory or profit.

At the time of writing there are four dramatic houses open on Broadway, or in the immediate vicinity, three of which are presenting melodrama, while the other, which is recognized as the home of musical comedy, finds in an offering of that class sufficient reason for the prolongation of its season. One of these houses seems to have been kept open mainly that the attraction therein may make a metropolitan record, for the partial indifference of the public has made it necessary to reduce the salaries of the players engaged in the presentation of the play. Still another house, located downtown, is offering melodrama of the lurid type, which by comparison makes the Summer air seem almost frosty, and if the companies playing in these several houses should "silently steal away" we feel tolerably sure "they never would be missed."

Thomas E. Mince, whose death we chronicled in another column, will be missed and mourned by many. Few men in the vaudeville business have been more widely known, or have had more friends. He was of kindly and genial nature, warm hearted and generous. He was alert and enterprising in business, and at the time of his death was proprietor of six vaudeville theatres, in as many cities, and of two road companies, and had matured plans for a substantial increase of his enterprises. He was a devoted adherent of THE CLIPPER, and we pay this brief tribute to a life long friend.

At the METROPOLITAN OPERA HOUSE, on May 20, an entertainment was given for the benefit of the men and families of the American Volunteer Soldiers and Sailors of the Spanish-American War. Many prominent professionals appeared and the entertainment, which was given under the auspices of the American Army and Navy Aid Society, netted over $2,500. The Lambs gave their annual public gambol at the KNICKERBOCKER THEATRE, evening of May 31. Further mention of this event will be found elsewhere in this issue. Contributions in aid of the Actors' Fund home continued to come in throughout the week, and on June 2 the amount had increased to $56,507.25. Olga Nethersole closed her engagement at WALLACK'S Tuesday, May 29, with "Sapho" still to the fore. A large audience had assembled to bid her farewell and to assure her of lasting regard. Following an ovation tendered her at the close of the third act, Miss Nethersole made a feeling speech of thanks. The continued attractions for the week ending June 2 were: James K. Hackett at the CRITERION, "Sherlock Holmes" at the GAR-RICK, "The Casino Girl" at the CASINO, "Quo Vadis" at the New York, "Woman and Wine" at the ACADEMY OF MUSIC, the stock company at the MURRAY HILL and "A Run-away Girl" at DALY'S, the one last named having closed on that date. The one week stands closing June 2 were: Black Fatti's Troubadours at the STAR, "The Mid-night Flood" at the THIRD AVENUE, and Chauncey Olcott at the GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

Variety entertainment was furnished at TONY FARTOR'S, PROCTOR'S, the UNION SQUARE, PROCTOR'S FIFTH AVENUE, KOSTER & BIAL'S, PROCTOR'S PALACE, the LONDON, HUBBARD & SEAMON'S, the ATLANTIC GARDEN, and the LION PALACE.

THE LAMBS' CLUB held its annual gambol at the Knickerbocker on May 31. The programme included a burlesque called "The Regenerators," the Bostonians in a scene from "The Viceroy," two compositions by Victor Herbert, played by himself; a modern masque, "The Hall of Fame," by J. J. Lincoln, a burlesque on "Sherlock Holmes" called "Skylark Holmes," by Ralph Delmore; selection by the Lambs Quartet, a burlesque, "Ben Adia, or Quo Vadis," by W. H. Post, and a farcical sketch in two scenes, called "The Masquerade Ball."

CARDS.

W. G. S. Little Falls.—Although D. who had three points to make, made in play the three he bid, P. who needed but one point, won the game when he played low, which outranked in value jack and game. The points rank in value as follows: High, low, jack, game. D. did not obtain any preference in the count because he made his three points.

M. D. C. Wheeling.—In the regular game of euchre only one player can play alone at one time—he who assumes the responsibility of the trump, by either ordering it up, taking it up or making it, and only two points can be scored for a euchre, whether of an lone hand or not.

F. B. Cincinnati.—Any straight "rush" in what is called a "rush" to call a "rush" or "tiger" rush, the highest such hand being composed of ace, king, queen, jack and ten spot, and the lowest of five, four, three, two and one, the ace either beginning or ending a straight.

E. L. J. Atlanta.—In all four (seven up) the dealer is entitled to score a point every time he turns jack, save when a misdeal occurs before the jack is turned.

BASEBALL, CRICKET, ETC.

J. J. D. Arthur Cummings was the first to use the curve as an amateur, and afterward as a professional with the Mutuals, of New York, in 1872.

FIRST BASEMAN, Brooklyn.—A is right. Rule 50, sec. 10, says: "If, after passing first base he turns to his left from the foul line, he shall forfeit such exemption from being put out."

M. S. Troy.—Providence defeated Detroit by 1 to 0, in eighteen innings, Aug. 17, 1882, at Providence, and Cincinnati and Chicago played a twenty innings game—7 to 1—June 30, 1892, at Cincinnati.

R. S. L. Rock Springs.—Yes. During the season of 1887.

J. N. W. Providence.—In all cases where a base runner is retired by being hit by a batted ball the batsman is credited with a base hit.

F. P. M. Buffalo.—The Rochester team won the championship of the Eastern League last season.

RING.

J. A. D. New York.—The fight between John L. Sullivan and Paddy Ryan, for the championship of America, took place at Mississippi City, Miss., Feb. 7, 1882, Sullivan winning in nine rounds. It was fought under the revised rules of the London P. M., with bare knuckles and on turf.

S. M. G. Philadelphia.—The last fight for the championship, under the old rules of the London prize ring, which called for bare knuckles and on turf, with thirty seconds interval between rounds, was that between John L. Sullivan and Jake Kilrain, which took place at Richburg, Miss., July 8, 1889, and was won by Sullivan, who was, therefore, the last heavyweight champion under those rules.

TURF.

J. H. S. Ada.—There are no reliable records in relation to the stride of horses, either trotting or running. Gloster, the old time trotter, is stated to have had a stride of 23 ft. when at speed, and when sent at his fastest gait, may for thirty or forty yards, he would stride 25 and 26 ft.

J. K. G. Burlington.—Ed. Corrigan owned Modesty when that horse won the American Derby, in 1884.

ATHLETIC.

B. S. S. Canton.—1. If a deliberately knocked over the hurdle with his hand he should have been disqualified, 2. He is not allowed to do so deliberately.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Chicago Jockey Club

Began operations at Hawthorne Park, May 28, and since that time large fields have contested for generous purses, and high grade sport has resulted.

The Flight Stakes was the feature of the opening card, and at the end of the six furlongs Sam Pullen had a big field of fine sprinters by the head, and won in handy fashion, Hermoso, the favorite, finishing second, with Tuttil, a Pacific coast crack, third. The summaries to date are given below:

May 28.—First race—Five furlongs—Ed Garland, 11, 107, Moody, 5 to 1, won; Boney Boy, 104, Miller, 11, 107, second; Miss Shanley, 90, W. Waldo, third. Time, 1:04 1/2.

Second race—One mile, selling—Lady Meddiesome, 103, Devin, 7 to 2, won; The Elector, 116, T. Knight, 2 to 1, second; Trimmer, 108, Miller, third. Time, 1:47 1/2.

Third race—Three-quarters—Globe 11, 147, Eggerston, 5 to 1, won; Monita, 137, Worthington, 5 to 2, second; Zuffall, 140, Adams, third. Time, 3:22 1/2.

Fourth race—Flight Stakes, six furlongs—Sam Pullen, 103, Silvers, 7 to 2, won; Hermoso, 106, Boney, 7 to 2, second; Tuttil, 98, Hastings, third. Time, 1:18 1/2.

Fifth race—One mile—Batina, 109, Miller, 7 to 2, won; Rio de Altar, 112, Kuhn, 2 to 1, second; Fancy Wood, 111, Rose, third. Time, 0:51 1/2.

Sixth race—One mile—Love's Labor, 105, Walsh, 4 to 5, won; Microscope, 105, Waldo, 5 to 3, second; Bermuda Prince, 105, Rose, third. Time, 1:00 1/2.

May 29.—First race—Four furlongs and a half—Princess Tatiana, 105, Waldo, 15 to 1, won; Matin, 118, Devin, 2 to 1, second; The Conqueror, 113, Dupe, third. Time, 1:00 1/2.

Second race—Six furlongs—Innovator, 101, Bergen, 9 to 2, won; Braw Lad, 121, Caywood, 2 to 5, second; Maryland Reserve, 113, Grimes, third. Time, 1:23 1/2.

Third race—Great Bend, 114, Dupe, 5 to 2, won; Moio, 114, Rosa, 1 to 2, second; Strangest, 110, Miller, third. Time, 1:26 1/2.

Fourth race—Seven furlongs—Wood Trice, 110, Rosa, 3 to 1, won; Lomond, 107, Dupe, 3 to 1, second; Thomas Carey, 104, Bergen, third. Time, 1:37 1/2.

Fifth race—Five furlongs—Gold Badge, 105, Devin, 30 to 1, won; Kid Cox, 106, Miller, 4 to 5, second; His Eminence, 112, Rose, third. Time, 1:09 1/2.

Sixth race—One mile and an eighth—Orlando, 98, Stuart, 15 to 1, won; Oxnard, 108, Rose, 6 to 5, second; Paps Harry, 104, Narvaez, third. Time, 2:06 1/2.

May 30.—First race—Five furlongs—Silverdale, 114, T. Burns, even, won; Garry Hermann, 118, T. Knight, 1 to 3, second; Baltus, 107, Miller, third. Time, 1:07 1/2.

The Latonia Jockey Club

Inaugurated its annual Spring meeting at Latonia, Ky., May 28, with the Latonia Derby the promised feature of the day. The historic classic resulted in a farce, however, as a heavy rainfall during the early hours of the afternoon resulted in the scratching of St. Ivor, Highland Lad, Kentucky Farmer and Florizor, leaving Lieutenant Gibson to walk over the course alone for the big end of the stake. Since that date the sport has been of the customary high class, a summary of the results attained being given herewith:

May 28.—First race—Six furlongs—His Excellency, 105, Boland, 1 to 5, won; Unsightly, 100, May, 2 to 2, second; Isip, 103, H. Wilson, 20 to 1, third. Time, 1:12 1/2.

Second race—One mile—Selling—Eleanor Holm, 102 1/2, Michaels, 10 to 1, won; Dandy H., 106, Van Camp, 3 to 2, second; Sadie Burnham, 89 1/2, May, 8 to 1, third. Time, 1:46 1/2.

Third race—Five furlongs—Drougheda, 106, Van Camp, 8 to 5, won; Sam Lyons, 105, Michaels, 4 to 1, second; Morris, 108, Harshberger, 4 to 1, third. Time, 1:05 1/2.

Fourth race—One mile—Derby, one mile and a half—Lieut. Gibson, 127, Boland, walkover..... Fifth race—Four furlongs and a half, selling—Queen A Day, 104, Herting, 6 to 1, won; Telephone Girl, 104, Howell, 4 to 1, second; Erema, 112, Mason, 11 to 10, third. Time, 0:58 1/2.

Sixth race—One mile—Selling—Lord Zet, 116, Van Deusen, 2 to 1, won; Salvage, 115, Overton, 9 to 5, second; Atlantus, 107, Aker, 8 to 1, third. Time, 1:24 1/2.

THE CALIFORNIA CRICKET ASSOCIATION'S championship contests commenced May 13, at Alameda, the Alameda team then defeating the Pacific team by totals of 171 to 66, although the former team had two batsmen absent. F. J. Croil scored 57 for the Alameda team, H. Ward Jr. bowled seven wickets of the Pacific team at the cost of 32 runs. The second game was played on the same grounds May 20, when the California team defeated the Pacific team by 54 to 39, the totals of the first inning. The Pacific eleven made 79 for six wickets before the second inning closed. The California eleven had seven wickets down for 39 when time was called. A. Dickenson and L. H. Sandilands led in bowling for their respective teams, the former securing seven wickets for 14 runs, and the latter taking five wickets for 13 runs in the first inning.

THE MERION TEAM defeated the Philadelphia team by 82 to 69, the totals of the first inning. In a championship contest for the Halifax Cup, May 30, at Philadelphia. E. Norris bowled eight wickets of the Merion team at a cost of 34 runs in the first inning. H. C. Thayer scored 81, not out, of a total of 153 for three wickets made by the Merion team in the second inning. The Merion team sent the clubs contending for the Philadelphia Cup on the same day, the Merion team winning by 62 to 46, the totals of the first inning. G. Wooley scored 83 of a total of 164 for nine wickets made by the Philadelphia team in their second inning.

F. J. PRENDERGAST scored the first century of the season in this vicinity May 30, at Livingston, Staten Island, N. Y. He then making 124 of a total of 315 compiled by the eleven representing the Metropolitan District Cricket League against the New York Cricket Association's representative eleven's totals of 35 and 46. M. R. Cobb did the best bowling for the winners, securing seven wickets at the small cost of 10 runs. F. F. Kelly and A. B. Milfin bowled in fine form for the winning team, the former capturing five wickets for 18 runs, and the latter obtaining five wickets for 13 runs.

F. C. SHARPLESS scored in faultless form 70 of the total of 208 for six wickets made by the Haverford College before they defeated the respective eleven in the Harvard University eleven in the opening intercollegiate championship contest, May 26, at Haverford, Pa. The visitors were all retired for a total of 42. Sharpless alone bowled no fewer than nine wickets at the cost of only 8 runs. The postponed championship contest between these teams is to be played May 30, at Haverford.

THE UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA eleven defeated the Haverford College eleven by totals of 101 to 62, May 30, at Haverford, Pa., and thereby won the intercollegiate cricket championship. S. G. Climenon and L. W. De Motte bowled effectively for their respective elevens, the former securing six wickets at a cost of 27 runs, and the latter getting six wickets for 26 runs. A. W. Jones scored 40 for the winning team.

THE UNIVERSITY OF PENNSYLVANIA eleven defeated the Haverford College eleven by totals of 101 to 62, May 30, at Haverford, Pa., and thereby won the intercollegiate cricket championship. S. G. Climenon and L. W. De Motte bowled effectively for their respective elevens, the former securing six wickets at a cost of 27 runs, and the latter getting six wickets for 26 runs. A. W. Jones scored 40 for the winning team.

THE BELMONT ELEVEN defeated the Baltimore team by ten wickets, May 26, at Baltimore, the respective totals being not out, 54 and 181; Belmont, 183 and 55, with no wicket down. J. B. King scored 64 and 28, not out, and E. M. Cregar made 26 and 27, not out, for the winners. King and Cregar also bowled very effectively, the former capturing twelve wickets at a small cost of runs. L. W. Maltby secured 95, not out, in the second inning of the Baltimore team.

T. HAYWARD, the famous English batsman, has made the following scores in consecutive innings this season: 120, not out; 55, 108, 131, not out; 55 and 193. In his second inning he was run out in a very unusual manner. From a full pitch Lockwood drove the ball back at the batsman, who, mistaking it for a catch, turned the ball into the wicket, while Hayward, who had backed up, was out of his ground.

THOMAS HERRN, a veteran English cricketer, died May 13, at Ealing, Eng., in his seventy-fourth year. He was a prominent member of the Middlesex County team from 1864 to 1875, inclusive. His batting score was 146 for Middlesex against Surrey in 1869. Herrn, who was an excellent bowler in addition to being a reliable batsman, for many years occupied the position of head of the grand staff at Lord's.

W. W. WISTER JR., who died May 27, at his residence in Philadelphia, helped to organize the Germantown Club, of that city, and was its first president. His position held from 1855 to 1858, inclusive. He continued a member of that prominent Philadelphia club up to the date of his death.

The American Cricket Annual has issued a neatly bound book, giving in chronological order the complete fixtures for the year of all the clubs in this vicinity, and other information useful to cricketers of the Metropolitan District. It is published at 150 Nassau Street, New York City.

AN ENGLISH AMATEUR TEAM, including S. H. Wood, captain; C. J. Burup, S. H. Day, B. J. T. Bosanquet, R. E. Foster, W. L. Foster, A. M. Hollins, R. N. B. Baker, C. Wyford Brown, R. C. Gosling and G. H. S. Haywards, intends playing a series of games here next September.

WILLIAM WRIGHT, who died May 14, at Nottingham, Eng., had long been identified in an official capacity with the County Cricket Club. He was the father of C. W. Wright, who was a member of the English amateur teams that played here in 1891 and 1892.

H. W. MIDDLETON made 56, and G. R. White got 52 of a total of 102 scored by the Germantown team against the Philadelphia team in the opening championship game for the Halifax Cup, May 26 and 28, at Philadelphia. The Philadelphia team made a total of 133.

F. A. COX, bowling for the Manhattan team against the Paterson Club's team B, May 26, at Prospect Park, Brooklyn, took five wickets for 13 runs. The visitors had made a total of 41 and the Manhattan team scored 25 for two wickets when rain stopped further play.

H. T. TATTERSALL scored 60, not out, of a total of 126 made by the New York eleven against the Brooklyn team May 30, at Prospect Park, Brooklyn. The Brooklyn team had previously been retired for a total of 118, of which D. Boxill scored 47, not out, and A. Matthews made 40.

J. E. BACKUS scored 56 of a total of 141 made by the Montclair Athletic Club's eleven against the Kings County St. George team, May 30, at Prospect Park, Brooklyn. The Kings County St. George team made 27 in the first inning, and 37 for three wickets in the second inning.

J. E. MORDAUNT made 51 of a total of 110 for four wickets scored by the Kings County eleven against the Brooklyn team before rain stopped the contest, May 26, at Prospect Park, Brooklyn.

FRED BRAY, a well known English professional formerly with the Germantown Club, now has charge of the golf links at Bedford Springs.

ELEVEN REPRESENTING the Germantown and Belmont Clubs played a championship game for the Halifax Cup, May 30, at Philadelphia, the former team then winning by totals of 155 to 153 after a very exciting finish. G. E. White, with 49, and V. A. Noble, with 47, were the highest scorers, for the Germantown team. F. Morgan and S. Mack put on 53 in partnership for the Belmont team after the fall of the eighth wicket for a total of 100. A clever catch by Middleton at short slip, however, after the batsman had made 36, and the last man was decided out "leg before wicket" on the first ball he received, enabling the visitors to win amidst intense excitement by two runs only.

RAIN STOPPED the numerous games scheduled June 2, in the metropolitan district, the only one being played to a finish. M. R. Cobb scored 39 of a total of 111 for six wickets made by the Livingston Field Club's eleven against the Montclair Athletic Club's team, in an unfinished championship contest of the Metropolitan District Cricket League's series, at Livingston, Staten Island. The two teams were playing a very close and unbroken game, although rain fell at the most continually during the afternoon, team B making 89 and team A having 83 for nine wickets when time was called.

BENNETT SCORED 73 of the total of 118 made by an eleven of the Merion Club against the Belmont Club in the championship contest for the Philadelphia Cup, May 30, at Philadelphia. The home team failed to make more than 83 in the first inning, by which the contest was decided. In the second inning the Merion team made 125, and the Belmont team compiled 36 for five wickets before the call of time.

BURROWS MADE 52, and T. R. Reaney scored 41 of the total of 121 compiled by an eleven of the Belmont Club against the Germantown team in the championship contest for the Philadelphia Cup, May 30, at Philadelphia. The Germantown eleven made 52 in the first inning and scored 115 for eight wickets in the second inning. The Belmont team had made 29 with five wickets down at the call of time.

F. G. WARRINGTON MADE 74, and N. Graham scored 73 of a total of 193 for seven wickets compiled by the Paterson Club's team A, against the Nelson Lodge team, May 26, at Paterson, N. J. The visitors, who presented only ten men, had previously been dismissed for the small total of 10. W. Clarkson bowled five wickets for 8 runs.

NEARLY ALL OF THE GAMES scheduled to be played June 2, in Philadelphia and vicinity, were stopped by rain, and left in an unfinished condition. N. Etting scored 71 of a total of 182 made by the Merion team against the Germantown eleven in an unfinished championship contest for the Halifax Cup.

T. KENTON, bowling for the Paterson Club's team B, against the Manhattan team, May 30, at Prospect Park, Brooklyn, secured six wickets for 9 runs, and helped his team to win by totals of 152 to 28. A. Brown scored 47 for the Paterson eleven.

THE MANHATTAN ELEVEN defeated the Nelson Lodge team by totals of 98 to 38, May 30, at Prospect Park, Brooklyn. The winners in the second inning scored 105, of which T. J. O'Reilly made 46, not out.

ELEVEN OF THE Germantown and Radnor Clubs played June 2, at Wayne, Pa., the former team winning by totals of 243 to 65. S. L. Evans, with 44, not out, and H. S. Christman, with 31, were the highest scorers for their respective elevens. The Germantown team made 243, and the Radnor team 65, in the second inning.

AT A MEETING of the California Cricket Association held May 28, at San Francisco, the championship pennant presented by Edward Brown, the president of the association, was formally awarded to the California Club.

BURGESS SCORED 54, not out, of a total of 115 for seven wickets made by the Fall River eleven before they declared their innings closed against the Brockton team, May 30, at Brockton, Mass. The home team made a total of 83.

THE MOORESTOWN ELEVEN defeated the Philadelphia eleven by totals of 95 for eight wickets to 58, in a championship contest for the Philadelphia Cup, June 2, at Moorestown, N. J.

AT THE RECENT ANNUAL MEETING of the Marylebone Club, held at Lord's, London, it was deemed expedient to suggest an alteration in the laws of cricket to have the effect that a batsman who is in front of his wicket, between wicket and wicket, and thereby intercepts a ball which would hit his wicket, shall be given out—"leg before wicket." It will be necessary to obtain the opinions of the representative clubs, which are usually consulted, before submitting this suggested alteration to a special general meeting of the Marylebone Club.

THE LIVINGSTONE FIELD CLUB, which has recently leased the grounds of the disbanding Staten Island Club at Livingston, Staten Island, will make a determined effort to win the championship of the Metropolitan District Cricket League this season. The eleven will be selected from the well known cricketers, M. R. Cobb, P. C. Goldingham, R. F. Baskby, W. S. R. Quilley, A. W. Boulton, H. E. Jackson, R. E. Bonner, N. S. Walker Jr., R. St. G. Walker, H. W. Townsend, C. H. E. Griffith, N. Dunn, G. Quirk, T. S. H. Simpson, C. Dalton and J. L. Pool.

TWENTY-TWO INDIVIDUAL INNINGS of over 300 runs have been scored by Australian batsmen in first class cricket, including four each by W. L. Murdoch, George Giffen and Victor Trumper. The highest score is 321, made by Murdoch for New South Wales against Victoria in 1882. This batting feat was also accomplished twice by C. Hill, and once each by H. H. Massie, P. S. McDonnell, H. Moser, H. Graham, S. E. Gregory, J. Darling, M. A. Noble and P. McAlister.

THE GERMAN TOWN ACADEMY eleven defeated the De Lancy School eleven by a score of 73 to 16, May 22, at Philadelphia, and thereby secured second place in the interscholastic championship race. White's batting and bowling were the chief features of the contest, he making 30 in capital form, and taking five wickets at the cost of 9 runs. Dixon did the best bowling for the De Lancy team, getting four wickets for 13 runs.

J. H. LAMKIN, who was for several seasons a prominent member of the Staten Island Club's first eleven, died suddenly May 1, at his residence in Brooklyn. His highest score for that team was 104 against the Staten Island Athletic Club, June 28, 1894. He made 58 for the representative New York team against the visiting Irish team, Sept. 30, 1892, at Staten Island, N. Y. Lamkin last played with the Staten Island Club in 1895.

G. H. WINDLEB, formerly of the Boston Athletic Association cricket team, will play with the Sarabon Cricket Club, of London, Eng., during the coming season.

T. F. CURRAN, late of the Knickerbocker Athletic Club's cricket contingent, is now playing with the Leinster Club, of Dublin, Ireland.

A. G. COLWELL, a young and promising member of the Montclair Athletic Club's cricket contingent, died recently at Cleveland, O.

SEVENTEEN AUTOMOBILES, of various types, participated in a race from the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, this city, to the Bellevue, Philadelphia, over a route including 110 miles, on Saturday, June 2, six of the number finishing in less than four hours, the start having been made at 7:30 A. M., and fourteen reaching Princeton, N. J., about 12 noon, where luncheon was partaken of. The winner, G. F. Chamberlain, president of the Automobile Club of New York, arrived at the finishing point at 7:20 P. M., and was accompanied by E. C. Macy, their machine being propelled by a gasoline motor. The second machine to finish was also a gasoline motor, the crew being composed of H. H. McFarland and Perry Owen, who arrived at 7:26. A heavy rainfall after leaving Princeton delayed the race through making the going very heavy. Next to arrive was a motor tri-cycle, four minutes later, driven by C. H. Metz, a long interval following before any others arrived.

Intercollegiate Fight Now on Eastern Soil—Result of Games Played.

The Eastern teams are home again and will remain here for several weeks. They have played their first series of games in the West, and while the result was not an unqualified success, New York and Boston performing in an unsatisfactory manner, it was not wholly a failure. The Philadelphia and Brooklyn teams played pennant winning ball, and returned home in first and second places, respectively. New York and Boston brought up the rear of the procession, but, at this early stage of the proceedings, that does not indicate an utter failure for either of them. Neither one is so far behind that, by a little hustling and careful playing, it cannot overtake, and even pass, the leaders. The race thus far has been exceedingly interesting and well contested, with bright prospects of any one of the teams carrying off the pennant. The Western teams, who are now playing their first Eastern series of games, will have to set a much faster pace than they have done at any time this season if they expect to lead the East by the time they are ready to return home. Each team will have to go over the entire Eastern circuit before a proper estimate can be formed of the relative strength of the two sections. While some of the Western teams have been playing in great form and holding their own, they have by no means demonstrated that there is a pennant winner among them. There is a possibility that a champion team may be developed this year, but there is also a possibility of a hard frost in July in this section. The Western teams will remain on Eastern soil until July 14, inclusive, and all lovers of the game in this section of the country should have ample time for judging for themselves as to the relative strength of the Eastern and Western teams.

New York vs. Pittsburgh.

These teams broke even on the double game business, May 30, at the Polo Grounds, this city. Over twenty-five thousand people witnessed the two games, the general opinion was well contested. It was anybody's game until the last man went out in the ninth inning, when the visitors won by a run. Doyle, Gleason, Davis, Hickman and Bowerman, of the home team, excelled in admirable executed plays. Like the New Yorks batted in anything like as good form as they defied they would have won the opening game, too. Hawley was not as effective as he might have been, especially in the sixth and seventh innings, when the Pittsburghs batted in six of the seven runs credited to them. Davis and Carrick, the visitors, gave signs of weakening in the eighth inning, but recovered himself in time to save his team from defeat. Pittsburgh batted Hawley safely eleven times, including double batters by Ritchey and Zimmer, while he gave one base on balls, hit another batsman with a pitched ball and struck out two men. The New Yorks gathered nine safe hits, including a triple batter by Davis and doubles by Gleason, Doyle and Mercer, of Waddell, who gave two bases on balls, hit another batsman with a pitched ball and struck out seven men. Carrick and Carrick, at all times at short, four put outs and two assists. Pittsburgh made five fielding errors, and New York made two. Umpire, Mr. Swartwood. Time, 2:30.

Umpire, Mr. Carrick and Carrick in the afternoon; the visitors were like "interested on-lookers." Had Pitcher Carrick hustled a little bit in the seventh inning, and covered first base as he should have done to receive the ball fielded by First Baseman Doyle, he would have put out Beaumont and retired the visitors without a run. This bit of "looseness of thought" enabled the Pittsburghs to score a run. President Freedman had a brass band present to enliven things and it had the desired effect upon the home players, and, despite the many errors charged to them, they really played brilliantly, especially Davis at short, and Hickman on third base. Carrick and Phillips had a pitchers' duel, and while there was a great scarcity of safe hits, there were enough of errors made on both sides to let the game go to the other team. Howbeit Carrick was the more successful when were on the bases, and a hit would have sent one more of them across the plate. Davis accepted all except one of twelve chances at short, having two put outs, nine assists and one error to his credit. Hickman, on third base, did not show the progress of the game fighting hot grounders. He intercepted several sizzlers with the art and regularity of a veteran. Williams, third baseman of the visitors, also fielded finely. He started off with making a couple of errors, one of which helped the home team to a run, but after that his work was perfect. He hit, or even apparently so, grounders past him, was glib edged. Carrick allowed the visitors only five singles, gave one base on balls and hit two other batsmen with pitched balls. Phillips also pitched superbly, did not rear the benefit of his good work. He held the locals down to six safe singles, gave two bases on balls and struck out four men. New York's clever base running aided them materially in getting runs. The visitors made four fielding errors and the locals made five.

New York 1 0 0 2 0 6 0 0-9
Pitcher Doherty was chiefly responsible for the defeat of his team on May 31. He gave as poor an exhibition in that respect as a professional pitcher could possibly be guilty of. When he did put the ball over the plate he was practically an enigma to the visiting batsmen; that is, when hits were needed, but when they could not hit the ball he would assist them around the bases by making wild pitches. The New Yorks, who are frequently the case when they lose, outbatted their opponents, but their good work in that respect was lost through Doherty's poor pitching. As the Bostonians won, the defeat of the New Yorks put the latter into last place in the pennant race. Position Boston has held almost from the beginning of the struggle. Seach and Hickman, of the home team, led in batting, each having three safe hits to his credit, while each helped with his batting to send two runs over the plate. Pittsburgh made nine safe hits, including a triple batter by Wagner and doubles by Zimmer and Tannehill, of Doherty, who gave five bases on balls, hit another batsman with a pitched ball, made three wild pitches, and struck out two men. New York batted Tannehill safely twelve times, including a triple batter by Grady and doubles by Van Halst and Seach, who gave five bases on balls, while he gave one base on balls, hit another batsman with a pitched ball and struck out four men. Pittsburgh made three fielding errors and New York made four. Umpire, Mr. Swartwood. Time, 2:15.

PITTSBURGH 0 0 0 1 0 2 1 0 0-4
New York 0 1 0 1 0 1 0 0-4
"B" Seymour pitched his first victory of the season for the New Yorks on June 1, and incidentally raised them out of the last ditch in the pennant race. The erratic "southpaw" showed little improvement over some of his earlier performances, and started several aerial trips, but the magnificent fielding done by Second Baseman Gleason and Short Stop Davis prevented his flights from proving the success he intended them. These two fielders, who have few if any equals in their respective positions, aided by Doyle, completed three fast double plays, and checked off the visitors at such times as they were conspiring to do mischief while on the bases and increase their score. Gleason accepted all of thirteen chances, three put outs and ten assists. He was kept on the jump during the game, and was as lively as a cricket. Seymour started run after run for the visitors by giving them bases on balls, only to have the runs nipped while budding. Of course, there were times when he would settle down and give indications that he was satisfied with his surroundings, but he did not last long, and again he would attempt an ascension, only to find that the infielders had too tight a hold on the rope of his air ship. Still, he deserves considerable credit for the good work he did do, as the visiting players, particularly Jack O'Connor, did everything in their power to rattle "Sl" Seymour, one of Pittsburgh's crack "cricketers." The two visiting pitchers, however, lasted only two innings, when he was replaced by Waddell, and the latter saved his team from a Waterloo defeat. Seymour allowed the visitors seven safe hits, including a two base by Wagner, gave nine bases on balls and struck out six men. New York made only seven safe hits, including triple batter by Seach, of the two visiting pitchers. Chebro gave one base on balls and struck out one man. Waddell struck out three men. Pittsburgh made four fielding errors and New York made two. Umpire, Mr. Swartwood. Time, 1:58.

Philadelphia vs. Chicago.

The Phillies have recovered from their "stage fright," as it were, for they are again hitting the ball as hard as the boys of the Western trip. This was fully illustrated on May 30, at Philadelphia, when they trounced the Chicagoans twice. In both games the locals showed their superiority over the visitors, both at the bat and in the field. There was little noteworthy in the morning contest, both teams playing rather carelessly, the Philadelphia winning by their superior batting. Second Baseman Lajoie was particularly strong in that respect, making four safe drives. Donahue pitched a steady game throughout, and at no time did the visitors become at all familiar with his delivery. He allowed them eight safe hits, which were well scattered throughout the nine innings, and gave two bases on balls. Griffith, who has been Chicago's crack pitcher for some years, was freely batted, and had the local push men steam while run along the bases. He would have made more runs than they did. The Phillies batted Griffith safely twelve times, including a triple batter by Flick, while he hit one batsman with a pitched ball and struck out two men. Chicago made five fielding errors, and the local players were upward of eleven thousand persons present. Umpire, Mr. O'Day. Time, 2h.

Chicago vs. Philadelphia.

Philadelphia 1 0 2 0 2 0 0 0-5
The Phillies had the banner crowd of the day at the afternoon game, there being nearly a thousand persons present, and to make the event an enjoyable one from a local point of view, the Phillies again won. In this contest, as in the one earlier in the day, the locals won by superior all around work. Callahan, who pitched for the visitors, was ineffective against the local team's heavy hitters, and latter made enough runs in the first inning to win, but to clinch the game for a certainty they pounded out seven more runs in the fourth inning. After that Callahan became very effective and prevented any more runs from being scored, but there was little satisfaction to be gained by this as the game was virtually lost before his good pitching began. Chicago batted Bernhard hard enough to win, but he kept their hits so far apart that they did not reap the full benefit of them. The visitors made eleven safe hits, including a triple batter by Childs and doubles by Ryan, Green and Gansel, of Bernhard, who gave two bases on balls and struck out four men. The Phillies batted Callahan safely sixteen times, including a triple batter by Delehanty, while he struck out two men. Delehanty led in safe drives. Umpire, Mr. O'Day. Time, 1:50.

Philadelphia 5 1 0 7 0 0 0 0-13
There was a most decidedly interesting meeting between these teams on May 31. Neither side scored a run until the last half of the eighth inning, when, with two men on the bases, Pitcher Orth of the locals, batted the ball over the right field wall for a homer, sending in two runs ahead of him. It was a pitchers' battle, and both Orth and Taylor did great work in that respect, base hits being few and far between. Orth pitched a brilliant game, and then batted in the winning runs. The visitors made two fielding errors. The Phillies' championship aspirations received a decided setback during the morning practice. Lajoie, the club's hard hitting and clever second baseman, fractured one of his hands while striking out with Outfielder Flick, and may be out of the game half of the season. Dolan played second instead of Lajoie, and Chiles took Flick's place in right field. Notwithstanding this handicap the Phillies again won, and took a tighter hold in first place in the pennant race. Orth allowed the Chicagoans only four scattering singles, gave two bases on balls and struck out two men. Philadelphia made six safe hits, including the homer above mentioned, of Taylor, who gave three bases on balls and struck out one man. Umpire, Mr. O'Day. Time, 1:55.

The absence of Lajoie and Flick from their usual positions, second base and right field, respectively, had a most depressing effect on the Phillies, as was clearly shown in the morning practice on June 1. It was rumored that they were hurt skylarking, but it has since developed that the men had a set-to without gloves, and that Lajoie had broken his thumb and had received a black eye. Flick, it is said, left the club house vowing that he would not again play on the team. Lajoie, however, was in great form and proved an enigma to the local batsmen, keeping them down to five safe hits, including a triple batter by Cross and a two base by Thomas, while he gave four bases on balls and struck out one man. The Chicagoans batted Maultsby curiously and successfully in winning the game. They made nine safe hits, including double batters by Ryan and Gansel, of Maul, who hit a batsman with a pitched ball and struck out one man. The game was virtually lost in the third inning, when Maul went to pieces, and the visitors scored three runs in that inning. The visitors batted him out four singles and double, which netted them four runs. Chicago made two fielding errors and the Phillies made four. Umpire, Mr. O'Day. Time, 1:55.

Boston vs. Cincinnati.

The Bostonians scored two victories over the Cincinnati on May 30, at Boston. Pitcher Dineen, of the home team, was effective at critical times in the morning game, while Frett of the visitors, was batted at will after the fourth inning. A brilliant running catch by Freeman, of the locals, of Smith's long drive in the ninth inning, was the sensational fielding feature of the game. The contest was marred considerably by the senseless kicking of the players of both teams, and Umpire Emalle was to blame for allowing it. The Bostonians batted and fielded very well, but they did not make any runs. Lowe making one or more safe hits, while Tenney, Stahl, Freeman and Dineen each made three. The visitors batted quite hard at times, but not with that consistency that brings winning results. Dineen allowed the Cincinnati eight safe hits, including triple batters by Barrett and Crawford, and doubles by Corcoran, gave one base on balls and struck out nine men. Boston batted Scott safely seventeen times, including double batters by Tenney, Long and Freeman, while he gave one base on balls, made a wild pitch and struck out one man. The catching of Clarke, of the home team, was a pleasing feature of the good work done by the locals. He accepted all of twelve chances, ten put outs and two assists. Cincinnati made two fielding errors and the Bostonians made one. Umpire, Mr. Emalle. Time, 2:40.

Boston vs. Cincinnati.

While the Bostonians have struck a winning gait, and if they continue it will soon be among the leaders, it was evident that the people of the club were not satisfied with the position they hold in the pennant race, as only eight thousand of them turned out to witness the afternoon game. In the morning both teams made the same number of safe hits, but the locals managed to make theirs when men were on the bases, and so won with apparent ease. Lewis and Phillips were the opposing pitchers and both did fairly good work, the former being more effective at critical times. Hamilton, of the locals, did some brilliant work in centre field, capturing six difficult fly balls. The visitors made nine safe hits off Lewis, who gave one base on balls, made two wild pitches and struck out three men. Boston also made nine safe hits, including a two base by Stahl, of Phillips, who gave three bases on balls, hit three other batsmen with pitched balls and struck out two men. Second Baseman Steinfield, of the visitors, put up a fine game, accepting all of seven chances, two put outs and five assists. Cincinnati again made two fielding errors and the home team made one. Umpire, Mr. Emalle. Time, 2:02.

Cincinnati vs. Boston.

Boston 2 0 4 0 0 0 1 0-7
It required eleven innings before a result was reached between these teams on May 31, the Bostonians winning. The contest was a most interesting one, the most interesting games of the season on those grounds. The batting was light on both sides, with the locals having a shade the best of it. Both pitchers—Pittenger and Hahn—were exceedingly effective. The infield work of Collins, Long and Lowe, of the home team, was of the highest order, they accepting and making twenty-two chances between them, while not the least semblance of a misplay marred their good work. Cincinnati's brilliant work being done in the outfield, where twelve fly balls were caught in fine style. Herman Long, short stop of the home team, practically saved the game for his club by his grand work in his position. Boston scored the winning run in the eleventh inning on Hamilton's single, Collins' hunt, Tenney's sacrifice and Stahl's long fly to Centre Fielder Barrett. Manager Allen played short and Corcoran second base for the Cincinnati, and he change was a great improvement in the make up of that team. Pittenger held the visitors down to five singles, gave two bases on balls and struck out two men. The Bostonians made eight singles off Hahn, who gave one base on balls and struck out two men. Each team was charged with fielding errors. Umpire, Mr. Emalle. Time, 1:55.

Cincinnati vs. Boston.

The Bostonians made it four straight victories by again winning on June 1, by showing the Cincinnati into last place in the pennant race. The game was well contested until the last half of the fifth inning, when the failure of the umpire to see a play at second base resulted in the Bostonians scoring six runs and virtually winning the game. The locals put up a brilliant fielding game, and while they did not bat the ball hard, the hits they did make were bunched to such good advantage that runs resulted. Cuppy, who was turned loose by St. Louis, pitched the Bostonians into another victory. Newton, for the visitors, pitched fairly well, as only one of the runs made by the Bostonians came from his delivery. Cuppy held the Cincinnati down to six safe hits, including a triple batter by Irwin and a two base by Allen, gave one base on balls, hit another batsman with a pitched ball and struck out three men. Newton allowed the Bostonians eight safe hits, including a double batter by Collins, gave five bases on balls, hit another batsman with a pitched ball, made a wild pitch and struck out two men. The visitors made three fielding errors, and the locals made only one. Umpire, Mr. Emalle. Time, 2:20.

Over seventeen thousand people saw the Brooklyn team defeated twice on May 30, at Washington Park, Brooklyn, by St. Louis, and there was considerable disappointment shown over such a thing happening in one day. It was generally hoped that the champions would make an even break, if they could not win both games. The morning game was better contested than was the one of the afternoon. For six innings the result hung in the balance, but in the seventh, however, the visitors forged ahead, by scoring two runs, and easily came in a winner. Nops and Hughes were the opposing pitchers. It was Nops' first game of the season for the home team, and his performance was anxiously watched, for it is apparent that the Brooklynians can use one or more good pitchers, as three of their best ones failed to come to time this year. Two have retired and gone into business, while the third held off for an alleged money matter grievance. Nops did exceedingly well for six innings, and then the strain seemed to tell on him, as the visitors batted him out of the game after that to win. Beside this, he did not have perfect control over the ball and passed too many men to first by that means. He was batted safely nine times, including a two base by McLean, gave six bases on balls and struck out two men. Hughes pitched nearly as unsteady as was Nops, but the former recovered more quickly and prevented him when they were needed, allowing the locals seven singles, gave two bases on balls, hit another batsman with a pitched ball, made two wild pitches and struck out two men. St. Louis made one fielding error and the home team made two. Umpire, Mr. Hurst. Time, 2:28.

St. Louis vs. Brooklyn.

Chagrin marked the features of the local enthusiasts when the visitors scored the sensational victory of the day over the champions. It is not often that any team plays good enough ball to wallop the Brooklyn twice in one day, but that is what the new St. Louis team did on this occasion. Of course, the visitors have been greatly strengthened by the presence of McJraw and Robinson. The former will strengthen any team, but it was not so much because of the presence of McJraw in the second game that St. Louis won, as it was the poor work of the home team at critical times. The latter was woefully weak in batting, especially when men were needed. This can be seen when men left on the bases against only two for St. Louis. Had the champions batted in at least half of the men who were stranded on the bases, they would have succeeded in tying the score and making matters more interesting. Kennedy, who began pitching for the home team, appeared to have no more idea as to where the home plate was located than he had of the beauties of the recent eclipse. He gave the visitors four bases on balls, forcing in a run, and then was batted out three times, and this new St. Louis team's runs, and resulted in sending Kennedy into retirement, and caused the substitution of Kitson for him. Kitson did much better work in the pitcher's position during the remaining innings, but he had a hopeless task set for him. Jones started the pitching for St. Louis, but when the Brooklynians began to bat they freely began to reprove him, and, as the locals grew shy on him, St. Louis turned to its safe hits, including a homer by Burkett, off the local pair of pitchers. Kennedy gave four bases on balls, while Kitson hit one batsman with a pitched ball and struck two others with a batted ball. The two visiting pitchers safely eight times, including a triple and double bagger by Kelley and a triple by Croan. Jones gave three bases on balls and struck out one man. Young gave two bases on balls and struck out five men. He made two errors, including a throw, and the locals made two. Umpire, Mr. Hurst. Time, 2.20.

The Brooklyn men when these teams met on June 1, rain causing a postponement of hostilities on the preceding day. It was a matter of much satisfaction to Pitcher Kennedy, who had been charged with the duty in "throwing down" his opponents so easily. He undertook to perform the trick on the afternoon of Decoration Day, but made an ignominious failure, and retired at the end of the first inning. On this occasion he appeared to be in the better form for his work: at least the "Mother City" aggregation found him as they never had before, and took him at a victory. The great "C" Young, who pitched for St. Louis, was batted at will by the home team, who took a lead at the start and never relinquished it. Both teams fielded finely; only one fielding error was made and that was charged up to the visitors. The St. Louis team was the victors in the services of Wallace. His clever short stop, who was injured on Decoration Day and has gone home to mend. Billard took his place at short, but was given no fielding chances, and therefore could not show what he could do in an emergency. Keeler, of the home team, lost in batting, making three errors, including a triple bagger by Donlin off Kennedy, who made a wild pitch and struck out one man. Brooklyn batted Young safely ten times, including a homer by Cross and a two baser by Farrell, while he gave one base on balls and struck out three men. The fielding of the Brooklyn players, of the locals was the most conspicuous feature of the game. Umpire, Mr. Hurst. Time, 1:50.

Boston vs. St. Louis.

These teams played all kinds of baseball or June 2, at Boston. There was a fusellad of base hits, errors galore, while many really brilliant catches, stops, etc., were made, and ten innings were necessary before a result was reached. Boston excelled in everything, runs, base hits and errors. It was a pitcher's game, if quantity instead of quality is considered. Boston tried four men—Dineen, Lewis, Pittinger and Willis—while St. Louis managed to get along with three—Powell, Jones and Maghey. When the visitors failed to reach first base on safe hits, the pitcher insisted there on wild pitching or costly errors on the part of members of the home team. Third Baseman McGraw, of St. Louis, was put off the ground in the third inning for kicking. He was replaced by Criger, one of the regulars in the outfield. The visitors had fourteen safe hits, including a homer and triple bagger by Donlin and a double and triple by Kelster, off the local quartette of pitchers. Dineen gave six bases on balls and struck out two men. Lewis contributed two bases on balls and struck out one man. Jones had two men hit with pitched balls. Boston batted the visiting trio of pitchers safely twenty-three times, including a homer and double bagger by Long, a triple by Tenney and doubles by Stahl (twice) and Freeman (twice). The home team, on the other hand, made a balk and struck out one man. Jones gave one base on balls, made a wild pitch and struck out one man. Besides this Boston had one batsman hit with a pitched ball. St. Louis made five fielding errors and had two errors made eight. Umpire, Mr. Emslie.

By hard and consecutive batting in the third inning of the game played by these teams on June 4 the Bostoners scored enough runs to give them a victory by a margin of three to one. They added two more runs in the fifth inning. Umpire Swartwood declared Donlin, one of visiting players, out for interference in the fifth inning, and the decision caused considerable kicking by the Mound City aggregation. Dineen, the visiting pitcher, was the only one including a two baser by Donlin, gave five bases on balls and struck out one man. Boston batted Hughes safely thirteen times, including double buggers by Stahl (twice), Freeman (twice) and Lowe, while he gave two bases on balls and struck out one man. The game was made on fielding error and Boston made two. Umpire, Mr. Swartwood. Time, 2:25.

Philadelphia vs. Pittsburg.

Faultless fielding and timely batting helped the Philadelphia to defeat the Pittsburghs June 2, at Philadelphia, although the contest was limited to four and a half innings by a thunderstorm. The Phillies very wisely went to bat last, and when the rain stopped the game, after the first half of the fifth inning had been played, they had a victory to their credit. Frazier pitched a good game for the home team, and kept the hits made by the visitors so well scattered that they could get in only one run. On the other hand, the Phillies bunched their hits when needed and runs resulted. Frazier allowed the Pittsburghs only five safe hits, including a two baser by Cooley, gave two bases on balls and struck out one man. The locals batted Leever safely eight times, but he had no bases on balls. Frazier made wild pitches and struck out one man. Only one fielding error was made and that was charged to the visitors. Umpire, Mr. O'lay. Time, 1.30.

Phillie Phanatic was necessary before a result was reached when these teams met on June 4, the Pittsburghs winning after a hard uphill fight and an exciting finish. In the tenth inning, after the first two visiting hitters had been struck out, Wagner singled and stole second. Then Cooley, who was recently released by the Phillies, hit for two bases, sending in Wagner with what proved the winning run. Pittsburgh's Matt Salerno, who had been the team's triple bagger by Beaumont and a two-baser by Cooley, while he gave three bases on balls and struck out six men. The locals made seven safe hits off the two visiting pitchers, Wade and Mulholland. The home team got six bases on balls and struck out five men. Phillie pitched only the tenth inning. Flick made his reappearance with the home team. Pittsburgh made only one fielding error and the Phillies made two. Umpire, M. J. Turt. Time, 2:35.

Brooklyn vs. Chicago

Had the rain interfered on June 4, when these teams met at Washington Park, Brooklyn, instead on June 2, the Brooklynins might have been credited with a victory instead of having a defeat charged against them.

However, that is another story. The home team selected Kitson to pitch, and he proved the easiest kind of a mark for the Chicagoans, who sent him into confusion in the fifth inning, and Kennedy was substituted. The visitors batted the two local pitchers safely eighteen times, including triple homers by Ed McCormick and Grady Sizemore, driven by Mertes, Green, Ganzel, McCormick and Griffith. Five singles and a triple were made off Kennedy, and the other hits were made off Kitson. Neither gave any passes to the first base runner. Kennedy struck out one man, Griffith, while McCormick gave seven hits, including a homer by Jones, gave two bases on balls, hit another batsman with a pitched ball and struck out two men. Chicago made two fielding errors and Brooklyn none. Umpire, Mr. O'Day. Time, 2:10.

New York vs. Cincinnati.

Pitcher Hawley, of the locals, proved too much for his old cinn mates on June 4, when these teams met at the Polo Grounds, this city, rain having delayed the game for several days. On June 2, Hawley was in excellent form, and pitched as if his whole future existence depended upon the result of this game. He pitched superbly, and should have been credited with shutting out the visitors with a run. He would have accomplished this trick had he not been a fast catcher. Five errors were made behind him; two of these were charged to Howerman, who played short in the absence of George Davis. Hawley not only pitched good ball, but he led in batting with three timely singles. Cincinnati tried two pitchers, but could not win. Hahn began pitching for the visitors, but gave up the game in the eighth inning, when he was hit hard and often. Cincinnati's fielding was better than that done by the home team, the former making three fielding errors. Hawley held the visitors down to six safe hits, gave no free passes to first base, but struck out one man. New York batted the two visiting pitchers only once, and was aided by the big batters by Selbach, Doyle and Hickman, and a two baser by Grady. Hahn gave four bases on balls, made a wild pitch and struck out three men. While the New York team was weakened considerably by the absence of Short Stop Davis, it appeared strong enough to outclass the Cincinnati Union. Mr. Emslie. Time, 1.45. Nearly five thousand persons witnessed the game.

Rain prevented the following major league championship games from being played as per schedule: May 31, Brooklyn vs. St. Louis, at Brooklyn. June 2, New York vs. Cincinnati, at the Polo Grounds, Manhattan; Brooklyn vs. Chicago, at Brooklyn.

We have just received a set of photographs of the Brooklyn players, for which we extend thanks to Messrs. Gardner & Co. (Thomas W. Taylor) the Brooklyn photographers.

The Cincinnati's visited Paterson, N. J., June 3, and defeated the home team in an exhibition game by 12 to 1.

The West New York Field Club defeated the Hobokens by 6 to 5, in a well contested game played June 3, at Hoboken, N. J.

The Ring.

"Six-kid" MCCOY and TOMMY RYAN engaged in a "six-kid" "go" at Tattersall's, Chicago, on Tuesday evening, May 29. The agreement being that if both men were on their feet at the close of the stipulated time a draw should be the result. Of course the setto was one that delighted the floricritics in the big crowd, but the finish was unpleasant, as Referee Malachy Hogan, who, I apprehend, was not made himself a party to the agreement, declared McCoy the victor, which brought on a mix up between him and Ryan, who exchanged deliveries, but the police nipped the fracas in the bud. Later the Tattersall's management refused to recognize Hogan's decision, and later was re-nounced by the referee, who declared the boxing match a draw. All of which resulted from a referee neglecting to post himself on the articles governing a bout which he had agreed to referee. Malachy ought to have known better.

"KID" McCOY AND JACK BONNER furnished excellent sport for the patrons of the Broadway Athletic Club, of this city, on Friday evening, June 1. McCoy was a stiff favorite, but he did not have a soft thing during the early part of the contest, for Bonner made a decidedly better showing than any one had given him credit for being able to do. In front of so clever a lad as McCoy, despite his well known inability, He assumed the offensive, and persistently set about the "Kid," but the latter always held him safe, jabbing him until Bonner's face was smeared with blood, and after fighting fifty-one seconds in the thirteenth round Jack fell without a blow, and while prone on the floor was counted out.

SOBBY SMITH AND BILLY MAYNARD faced each other before the Sampson Athletic Club, in Brooklyn, evening of May 28, having been matched to mill twenty rounds, at 12lb. The fight was witnessed by a rather small company, but was full of vim from start to finish, the Californian having the upper hand almost from the start, and eventually knocking Maynard out in the tenth round.

GEORGE GARDNER and "KID" CARTER met at the Seaside Sporting Club on the evening of May 25 and started in to fight twenty rounds, but soon after beginning hostilities Carter proceeded to indulge in foul tactics, which he persisted in until the nineteenth round, when Referee Billy Madden lost patience and disqualified him, giving the fight to Gardner.

DICK O'BRIEN and GEORGE BYERS encountered each other before the Kirtland Athletic Club, on Lynch St., at night of May 30, the engagement going to the limit, fifteen rounds, and being declared a draw.

JOHN A. THATCHER, who for many years was prominent in billiard circles, and who wrote articles over the nom de plume of "Shortstop," died on May 22, in a hospital in Chicago, from bronchitis. He was born in Cleveland about forty-nine years ago, and made his first appearance as a professional billiardist in 1873, competing for the championship of Ohio.

FOURTH RACE.—The Preakness Stakes, for three year olds which have not won a race of the value of $2,500 up to the date of closing the entries, by subscription of $50 each, with $1,000 added, one mile and a sixteenth—George J. Long's Hindus, b. c., by Volante-Ignite, 106, Spencer, 15 to 1 and 6 to 1, won in a drive by a head; Lewis Elmore's Samaritan, 106, McCue, 7 to 1 and 2 to 1, second; William Lakeland's Ten Candles, 106, Frash, third. Time, 1:48 1/2.

FIFTH RACE.—For two year olds, selling, five furlongs—P. S. P. Randolph's Scurry, ch. g., by St. Charles-White Squal, 101, Mitchell, 11 to 5 and 4 to 5, won in a drive by a length; John E. Madden's Delmar, 92, Dangman, 15 to 1 and 6 to 1, second; W. C. Whitney's Gold Heels, 102, Odum, 5 to 2 and 4 to 5, third. Time, 1:42.

SIXTH RACE.—For three year olds and upward, selling, one mile and seventy yards—Richard T. Wilson Jr.'s Rangor, ch. c., 4, by Belvidere-Zara, 106, McCue, 6 to 1 and 2 to 1, won in a drive by a head; H. Eugene Leigh's King Bramble, 3, 100, O'Connor, 13 to 5 and even money, second; James McLaughlin's First Whip, 3, 103, Bullman, 2 to 1 and 4 to 5, third. Time, 1:45 1/2.

The Memorial Day crowd was a monster, and the six race card provided for its amusement furnished an abundance of excellent sport. Imp's victory in the Parkway Handicap was exceedingly popular, and she was cheered as vociferously as though she had just won a Suburban. The list of particularly long shots was now cut, although there were several liberal priced starters returned first under the wire. Dr. Elchberg, at 6 to 1, was the most liberal priced winner of the day, when he captured the jumping event, which opened matters for the afternoon.

FIRST RACE.—Hurdle handicap for four year olds and upward, one mile and three quarters over seven hurdles—Louis V. Bell's Dr. Elchberg, br. c., 4, by Candiana-Nell Swift, 142, Heider, 6 to 1 and 2 to 1, won easily by eight lengths; F. H. & T. Hitchcock's Mazo, 4, 135, Green, 5 to 1 and 2 to 1, second; Richard T. Wilson Jr.'s Athanas, 5, 130, Dayton, 20 to 1 and 8 to 1, third. Time, 3:11.

SECOND RACE.—For three year olds and upward which have not won $1,000 in 1899 or 1900, one mile and a sixteenth—William M. Barrick's James, b. c., 3, by St. James-Belotte, 97, Mitchell, 4 to 1 and 6 to 5, won easily by two lengths; John H. Carr's Wall Not, 4, 109, H. Murphy, 4 to 1 and 2 to 1, second; Waterbury's Intrepid, 124, Pullman, 13 to 5 and 1 to 2, third. Time, 1:47 1/2.

THIRD RACE.—The Bedford Stakes for two year olds, by subscription of $50 each, with $1,000 added, four and a half furlongs—K. Windham Walden & Sons' Tonium, ch. c., by Silver Fox-Tonque, 109, McCue, 3 to 1 and even money, won easily by three lengths; P. J. Dwyer's Malden, 102, O'Connor, 8 to 1 and 3 to 1, second; C. T. Patterson's Quix II, 95, Dangman, 12 to 1 and 5 to 1, third. Time, 0:55.

FOURTH RACE.—The Parkway Handicap, for three year olds and upward, full steeplechase course of about two miles and a half—J. W. Col's Van Ship, ch. g., aged, by Isaac Murphy-Bandusia, 172, Finnegan, even money and 4 to 1, won easily by a length; Frank D. Beard's Bob White, 6, 132, Harry, 20 to 1 and 6 to 1, second; H. S. Page's Nestor, aged, 132, Heider, 5 to 1 and 2 to 1, third. Time, 4:35.

SIXTH RACE.—For two year olds, five furlongs—C. Fleischmann's Sons' Blues, b. c., by Sir Dixon-Bonnie Blue II, 115, Maher, 2 to 5 and out, won easily by a length; H. Eugene Leigh's Delmar, 115, Turner, 5 to 1 and even money, second; J. J. Dwyer's Humboldt, 107, Jenkins, 15 to 1 and 2 to 1, third. Time, 1:02.

Saturday marked a red letter period in the annals of racing, and one of the greatest days in a decade of "the sport of kings," when Perry Belmont's Ethelbert and Wm. C. Whitney's Jean Beraud met in a special sweepstakes of $1,000 each, with $5,000 added, over a mile and a quarter, before one of the biggest crowds ever at the track.

When these horses were withdrawn from the Brooklyn Handicap field turflites were greatly disappointed, but the early announcement of what was practically a match race between them served to add greater interest in their respective abilities. Imp, the perennial turf idol, was shut out because of the conditions, as only four year olds were admitted, and each was to carry 120 lb, but the prospects are bright for a struggle between the three before the season wanes. Wm. C. Whitney got some glory out of the afternoon's card, as his Prince Charles captured the Hudson Stakes, of $3,500, and his Gold Heels took race for two year old maidens, but it is not likely that he was thereby consoled for the defeat of Jean Beraud, which Ethelbert ultimately accomplished in hollow fashion. It was 4:10 when the pair went to the post, and on perfectly even terms were sent away at the first starting, Ethelbert having the rail and each horse being in exact stride, and as evenly placed as though they were in harness. Following stable instructions, both Nash Turner, on Beraud, and Danny Maher, on Ethelbert, set out to make the pace the hottest ever, and as a result the furlongs were passed with almost lightning speed until Beraud was forced to "chuck it" shortly after the three-quarters had been run. The first quarter was negotiated in 0:23 1/2, neither horse having the best of it, then on to the half, which was done in 0:48. Going to the three-quarters the twain continued racing side by side, stride for stride, and were doing their level best, urged by skilled riders and prompted by the thoroughbred metal which imbued them with almost human intelligence, and the seeming determination to wear the other down. Both horses had thus far run on their own courage, but as Beraud showed signs of fatigue, Turner began to shake him up a little; but to meet the increased speed Maher had only to let out a wrap in Ethelbert's reins, when the Belmont horse began to draw away. First by inches, next by feet, until passing the three-quarters Ethelbert's advantage was a good length. Beraud, however, was game enough itself, and responded nobly to Turner's urgings, but to no avail, as when the mile was reached Ethelbert had the race in hand and was going away at every stride. Seven furlongs had been done in 3:23 1/2, with Ethelbert a length to the good, the mile being negotiated in 1:41 1/2, and from there on the killing pace was no longer needful, as Beraud was out of the running and Ethelbert had nothing to force him to extend himself.

Entering the stretch Maher began to pull up the Belmont champion, but at that he continued to leave Beraud at every jump, until he crossed the wire ten or a dozen lengths to the good, under about as strong a pull as Maher could put up. Turner kept on riding Beraud when Ethelbert began to sail away from him, but the punishment inflicted was of no avail, as his mount was a beaten horse from the seven furlong pole, and no amount of horsemanship could cope with Ethelbert's speed. The courage displayed by both horses throughout the eventful seven furlongs, which they traversed as a team, furnished a sight racers seldom witness, and one long to be remembered by those fortunate enough to be on hand for the struggle. Whatever future contests may bring forth—and they have not met for the last time, by any means—Ethelbert showed himself the best horse in this contest, and Beraud proved himself worth every one of the $40,000 his owner paid for him. Two greater thoroughbreds would be hard to find, and while the victor can rightfully be hailed as champion, the vanquished must be classed among the greatest horses ever bred in America or elsewhere. Summary:

FIRST RACE.—Highweight Handicap, for all ages, about three-quarters of a mile—E. D. Morgan's Blue Devil, b. h., 6, by St. Andrew-Blue Dross, 127, Spencer, 8 to 1 and 3 to 1, won in a drive by a head; J. A. McCormack's Peep o' Day, aged, 133, Jenkins, 12 to 1 and 5 to 1, second; Edward L. Graves' Hellobaa, 4, 135, O'Connor, 6 to 5 and 3 to 5, third. Time, 1:10 1/2.

SECOND RACE.—The Hudson Stakes of $3,500, for two year olds, by subscription of $50 each and $100 additional for starters, five furlongs—William C. Whitney's Prince Charles, br. c., by Loyalist-Yorkville Belle, 115, 7 to 2 and even money, won in a drive by a neck; C. Fleischmann's Sons' Lirabelle, 125, Maher, 9 to 10 and 1 to 3, second; Pepper Stable's Prince Pepper, 115, Jenkins, third. Time, 1:01 1/2.

Ancient the Paris Exposition.

A. G. Spaulding, director of athletic sports at the Paris Exposition, arrived home last week on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse. He spent two weeks in Paris, acquainting himself with the arrangements for the athletic games that will be an important feature at the exposition, and he returns well pleased with the result of his short visit, owing to the fact that practically everything that America has asked for has been granted. The most delicate request, and one that caused discussion, was the question of changing the dates of the Sunday games that the American college athletes expect to take part in. Mr. Spaulding presented an appeal from the Intercollegiate Association, and other letters, had personal interviews with the French officials, and thought at one time it would be impossible to so arrange the dates that they would meet the wishes of the American. Upon arrival in New York he was advised that his assistant, Director De Gormandina, had called that all the athletic championship games in which Americans would appear had been changed to the 14th, 15th and 16th of July.

A twenty-five mile marathon road race has been added, to be run on July 19. A valuable prize will be given to the winner. This event was added at the special request of President Babbe, of the New England association, to give the American long distance runners a chance to compete against the world. The standing high jump and standing broad jump were added to the programme also, and the petition of the William Barry Association to have a Gaelic football competition between their team and some other not yet selected has been granted.

Thus far America has secured special favors from the French officials, and, in fact, a friendly disposition has been shown to do everything in their power to make it possible for this country to be properly represented. America will be well represented officially at the meet, and Mr. Spaulding is assured that many of the American athletic authorities who may be in Paris during the games will be invited to officiate. He has brought with him the rules under which all the athletic events will be contested, and they are to a certain extent framed after the rules of the English Athletic Association. He also brings with him very favorable information for the amateur athletes that are going over as to the height of the hurdles and the number of hurdles in each event, and the obstacles and number of same in the steeplechase, and of hammer that will be allowed in the throwing competition, and other information.

Running high jump.—Armstrong, Michigan, won, 5 ft. 10 in.; Mooney, Michigan, second; Tate, Minnesota, third.

One mile bicycle race.—Gaffney, Notre Dame, won; McDougall, Notre Dame, second; Jans, Knox, and Goodrow, tied for third. Time, 2 m. 53 s.

Keat Equals a Track Record.

The star performer at the monthly games of the Pastime Athletic Club, of this city, held on Sunday, June 3, was A. H. Keat, who in winning the sixty yards race equalled the best recorded time, credited to Duffy, of Georgetown University. There was the customary large crowd in attendance, and the competitions were as interesting as usual. Summary:

Sixty yards run.—Won by A. H. Keat, scratch; J. F. Rostick, 14 ft.; second, O. C. Ordwein, 7 ft.; third, 0.3 s.

Two hundred and eighty yards run.—Won by M. J. Harrett, 55 yds.; D. J. Curtayne, 80 yds.; second, L. Markheim, 60 yds.; third, 2 m. 0.3 s.

Eighty yards hurdle race.—Won by A. H. Keat, scratch; A. Kelpin, 6 ft.; second, W. J. Feldkamp, scratch, third, 10 s.

Night hundred and eighty yards run.—Won by M. J. Harrett, 55 yds.; D. J. Curtayne, 80 yds.; second, L. Markheim, 60 yds.; third, 2 m. 0.3 s.

One mile run.—Won by D. J. Curtayne, 100 yds.; J. C. Lynch, 40 yds.; second, L. Markheim, 30 yds.; third, 1 m. 51 s.

Two mile race.—Won by A. H. Keat, scratch; composed of A. Alexander, M. J. McGarry, D. J. Brennan and R. E. Grady, defeated New West Side A. C. team, composed of J. Malone, P. Brennan, C. Donohue and G. L. Arnold. Time, 8 m. 54 s.

Games at the National Capital.

The Summer sports of the members of the Washington Young Men's Christian Association, open to all amateurs, were held on Saturday afternoon, June 2, and were well attended, but, unfortunately, were interfered with by a heavy fall of rain, which necessitated the holding of the running high jump indoors. The event was won in fine style by S. J. Jones, of the University of New York, who handsomely cleared a height of 6 ft. 2 in. Summary:

One mile relay race.—Won by West Branch Y. M. C. A., of Baltimore. C. A. Hale, Clarence Stewart, W. F. Hoffman Jr. and C. E. Craig, captains; second, Galathea Deaf and Dumb College, T. G. Northborn, E. Mather, L. A. Long and A. L. Orth; third, Washington Y. M. C. A., J. C. Spaulding, O. L. Meigs, James Graham and R. R. Reddington.

One hundred yards run.—Bernard J. Webers, N. Y. A. C., scratch, first; W. Dick Beer, W. C. H. S., 212 yds., second. Time, 0.4 s.

One mile run.—Won by W. G. Stuart, University of Pennsylvania, 23 yds.; A. A. Leith, Gallaudet Deaf and Dumb College, 40 yds.; second, J. W. Lamar, Baltimore West Branch Y. M. C. A., third.

Running high jump.—In doors, with rubber soled shoes—Won by S. J. Jones, New York University, 6 ft. 2 in.; I. K. Baxter, University of Pennsylvania, second, 6 ft. 1 1/2 in.

M. O'NEIL AND G. D. TINCER decided a match four miles race, for $125 a side, at the Market Field, Dublin, Ireland, on May 20. O'Neil led for seven laps from the start, when Tincer went in front, remaining there until three miles had been marked off, when the Adams man, having taken the measure of his opponent, passed him and eventually won by six yards, in 21 m. 11 1/4 s.

A. B. DOWNES defeated the American runner, Johnson, in a one hundred and twenty yards race, for $250 a side, at Newcastle, Eng., May 19, he winning by ten yards in three yards over 13 s.

JUST LANDED, JUST LANDED, EDWARD LESLIE,

Comedian, Mimic and Story Teller.

After a successful run of twelve months in England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales. 100 NIGHTS, PALACE THEATRE, LONDON. Success on Moss & Thornton tour, success on Livermore tour, success on Stoll tour. All songs written to order (NOT PUBLISHED); ALL COPYRIGHTED. New and old successes. Just two English press notices I mention. They speak volumes:
(No. 1) "The Greatest Single Turn at the Palace Theatre this week is that of Edward Leslie" (THE STAGE, London, Jan. 8, 1900).
(No. 2) "EDWARD LESLIE, the clever American Comedian, from the Palace Theatre, had the honor of appearing before Her Majesty the QUEEN, and their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales, at Buckingham Palace, last evening. He pleased the loyalty greatly with his original way of telling stories. This is a great honor for a music hall artist. He has a grand future before him. His idea of wit is quite different from our comedians, and we hope some day to see him the rage of London. He is working slowly but surely. When he first opened in England, I said he would be a society favorite, and I am pleased that my predictions have come true. No doubt some of his countrymen envy him, and are proud of the 'Boston boy'" (DAILY TELEGRAPH, London, February 6, 1900).
I have never heard of another vaudeville performer ever having the above honor. Open for Dates or Company. Can play any kind of parts. 12 years' experience in Burlesque. My act will suit any kind of audience; also

MLLE. CARRIE,

TREMENDOUS SUCCESS

The Well Known Baritone.

J. ALDRICH LIBBEY.

With the American Opera Co., Singing A. B. SLOANE'S Coon Song Sensation,

MA TIGER LILLY

And the New Instantaneous Ballad Success,

"SIDE BY SIDE,"

By LYN UDALL, Composer of the Terrific Hit, "JUST AS THE SUN WENT DOWN."

CHORUS:

Side by side, when 'twas sunshine,
Side by side in rain,
Hearing burdens together,
Sharing joy and pain,
Constant was their devotion,
Rise or fall of tide,
Now they're peacefully dreaming, side by side.

FREE to recognized professionals (with orchestration, if printed) of any of the above mentioned. SEND STAMPS FOR POSTAGE.

Schiller Building, Chicago. M. WITMARK & SONS, Publishers, Witmark Building, 8 West 29th Street, New York.

VOCALISTS! Please Note. MUSICIANS!

That we have REMOVED TO 1180 BROADWAY, cor. 28th St., New York, where we have splendidly appointed quarters, and cordially invite you to call and hear our new songs, all by well known writers.

THE GREATEST MONEY SONG EVER WRITTEN.

"EV'RYTHING'S A-COMIN' MAH WAY."

No need to describe this song. The title tells the story, but we can confidently say that for catchy melody and clever words, it has no equal. It will be heard everywhere within a short time.

A WINNER FOR SINGERS OF HIGH CLASS SONGS.

"YOU ALONE,"

A BALLAD OF RARE BEAUTY.

MacDONALD and DE CASTRO'S GREAT HIT.

"I WANTS A MAN WHO AINT AFRAID TO WORK."

Another of our Warm Coon Songs. A Great Laugh Producer. Already a Favorite.

We have others besides these that will interest you. Professional copies free to recognized professionals enclosing a programme and postage. (No cards). Orchestration 10 cents each.

EDW. M. KONINSKY & BROS., Music Publishers, 1180 Broadway, cor. 28th Street, New York.

M. N. KONINSKY and Other Pianists Always in Attendance.

TWO POWERFUL DESCRIPTIVE SONGS.

"SING ME A SONG OF OTHER DAYS."

The words tell a very original story, and the melody is all that could be desired.

"I DIDN'T THINK YOU CARED TO HAVE ME BACK."

A positive "heart toucher." Strong story, taken from life, and wedded to a beautiful melody. Slides for these two songs will be ready soon.

Notice to Infringers!

Anyone who makes, buys, uses, leases, or engages others to use Projecting Moving Picture Machines INFRINGES the patents of Thomas Armat. This includes every machine on the market. See the decision of the Board of Appeals of the Patent Office, and the final decision of the Commissioner of Patents, Feb. 5, 1900.

Theatrical managers who permit OTHERS TO USE on their premises are infringers under the United States Statutes, and are liable not only for actual but exemplary damages and an accounting.

The Armat Moving Picture Company owns all the patents of Thomas Armat. It is organized with $1,000,000 capital, has eminent counsel and such men in the Board of Directors as Frank A. Vanderlip, Assistant Secretary of the U. S. Treasury, and George W. Wilson, U. S. Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Those who desire to make contracts for such service should deal direct with the parent company, which has unequalled facilities. Infringers are to be prosecuted wherever found, to a finish, and a number of suits have already been commenced. This notice is final. Address

Armat Moving-Picture Co., Washington, D. C.

The Passaic River Regatta Association held its annual amateur carnival on the Passaic River, at Newark, N. J., Decoration Day, May 30, five thousand enthusiastic witnesses enjoying one of the best programmes ever offered by the organization. Heretofore the conflict between the Harlem and Passaic Associations on the same date had limited the entries for both cards, but the allotment of separate dates this year had a beneficial effect, and the New York delegation was representative and successful. The Newark boys had to content themselves with the glory of being hosts for the victorious New Yorkers and Philadelphia boys as they failed to win a single event. The most successful prize winners were the crews of the Nassau Boat Club, of New York, who won three events. Next came the Harlem Rowing Club with two firsts, while the New York Athletic Club and the first Bohemian Boat Club each earned a banner. The Vesper Boat Club, with two victories, led the Philadelphia, while the Malpas, Crescents and University Barge Club each scored one first. Summary:

The Harlem Yacht Club.

Was favored with ideal wind and weather conditions for its annual regatta on Memorial Day, although the emphasis might properly be put upon the bright sunshine and balmy atmosphere, rather than on the force of the breeze prevailing during the afternoon. However, in spite of the fact that many starters did not complete the courses, which were laid out on Long Island Sound, off City Island, there was an abundance of enjoyment for all participants. SEVERAL THOUSAND PERSONS witnessed a match at lacrosse between teams representing respectively the Crescent Athletic Club, of Brooklyn, and the University of Toronto, on Decoration Day, at Bay Ridge, N. Y., the result of the contest being in favor of the home players by the big score of 12 goals to 3.

Brooklyn Defeats New York.

The annual intercity interscholastic field meeting was held at Berkeley Oval, this city, on the afternoon of May 21, in presence of a fair sized crowd, mostly schoolmates of the competing youth, despite the rain that fell, spoiling the sport to a considerable extent. Nevertheless a number of good contests were witnessed, while, in view of the unfavorable conditions, some excellent performances were accomplished.

The point prize was captured by the representatives of the New York schools, by a score of 112 to 63, while the delegation from Cutler School gained the distinction of winning the most points of any single institution, scoring 45. Summary:

The Knickerbocker Carnival.

The customary several thousand spectators assembled at the grounds of the Knickerbocker Athletic Club, at Bayonne, N. J., on Wednesday, May 30, to enjoy the annual Decoration Day field sports under the auspices of that organization. This year, in view of the coming international championship races at the Paris Exposition, there was a change made in the distances of the track events, which were made to conform to those in vogue in France, to enable those who intend crossing the ocean to have the benefit of some practice at the distances at which they will then contend for honors.

The weather was fine, and the path and infield were both in excellent condition; as a natural result, with material of such high quality competing in the different events, some capital performances marked the proceedings, and those who attended had a most enjoyable outing. Special interest was taken in the outcome of the all round weight handling competition, embracing four events, the winner of which proved to be Richard Sheldon, of the New York Athletic Club, with John Flanagan, of the same club, second in line. The point score was as follows: Sheldon, 14; Flanagan, 11; R. J. Sheridan, 7; W. W. Coe, 4. The team relay race, two miles and one-half, aroused the enthusiasm of the spectators, who betowed lavish applause upon the victors, the Star A. C. delegation. A game of association football between the teams of the Scottish-American and Thistle Clubs, was won by the former by a score of five goals to nothing. Summary:

One hundred yards (100yds. 1ft.) run.—Won by George H. Hoffman, A. A. C., 7yds. 1in.; Walsh, N. Y. A. C., 2yds. 5in.; second, William Marshall, Hartford, Conn., 4yds. 4in.; third, 10a.

MA TIGER LILLY

And the New Instantaneous Ballad Success,

"SIDE BY SIDE,"

By LYN UDALL, Composer of the Terrific Hit, "JUST AS THE SUN WENT DOWN."

CHORUS:

Side by side, when 'twas sunshine,
Side by side in rain,
Bearing burdens together,
Sharing joy and pain,
Constant was their devotion,
Rise or fall of tide,
Now they're peacefully dreaming, side by side.

Notice to Infringers!

Anyone who makes, buys, uses, leases, or engages others to use Projecting Moving Picture Machines INFRINGES the patents of Thomas Armat. This includes every machine on the market. See the decision of the Board of Appeals of the Patent Office, and the final decision of the Commissioner of Patents, Feb. 5, 1900.

Theatrical managers who permit OTHERS TO USE on their premises are infringers under the United States Statutes, and are liable not only for actual but exemplary damages and an accounting.

The Armat Moving Picture Company owns all the patents of Thomas Armat. It is organized with $1,000,000 capital, has eminent counsel and such men in the Board of Directors as Frank A. Vanderlip, Assistant Secretary of the U. S. Treasury, and George W. Wilson, U. S. Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Those who desire to make contracts for such service should deal direct with the parent company, which has unequalled facilities. Infringers are to be prosecuted wherever found, to a finish, and a number of suits have already been commenced.

This notice is final. Address

The Passaic River Regatta Association held its annual amateur carnival on the Passaic River, at Newark, N. J., Decoration Day, May 30, five thousand enthusiastic witnesses enjoying one of the best programmes ever offered by the organization. Heretofore the conflict between the Harlem and Passaic Associations on the same date had limited the entries for both cards, but the allotment of separate dates this year had a beneficial effect, and the New York delegation was representative and successful. The Newark boys had to content themselves with the glory of being hosts for the victorious New Yorkers and Philadelphiaans, as they failed to win a single event. The most successful prize winners were the crews of the Nassau Boat Club, of New York, who won three events. Next came the Harlem Rowing Club with two firsts, while the New York Athletic Club and the First Bohemian Boat Club each earned a banner. The Vesper Boat Club, with two victories, led the Philadelphiaans, while the Maltes, Crescent and University Barge Club each scored one first. Summary:

Junior single sculls.—First trial heat—Won by New York Athletic Club, W. D. Hennen, Newark Rowing Club, Charles Patrick, second. Time, 6m. 12s. Second trial heat—Won by First Bohemian Boat Club, F. Budy; Malta Boat Club, George W. Engle, second. Time, 6m. 12s. Final heat—Won by First Bohemian Boat Club, F. Budy; Malta Boat Club, George W. Engle, second. Time, 7m. 7s.

Intermediate single sculls.—Won by Nassau Boat Club, New York, William McElroy, second. Time, 6m. 30s. Junior double sculls.—Won by Nassau Boat Club, New York, Jesse W. Powers (bow), Harry L. Powers (stroke); Valencia Boat Club, Hoboken, E. Gouse (bow), J. E. Sperry (stroke), second. Time, 6m. 20s. Junior eight.—Won by First Bohemian Boat Club, Philadelphia, C. H. With the Yachtsmen.

Decoration Day marked the opening of the yachting season in Greater New York and elsewhere, and, favored by an ideal day for recreation afloat as well as ashore, the several organizations in this vicinity took pleasure in the advantage of their opportunity, and indulged in their favorite pastime to their hearts' content. The Harlem Yacht Club was the only organization to hold a regularly constituted regatta, and a mention of their holiday sport is made elsewhere in this issue. The Atlantic Yacht Club, the Brooklyn Yacht Club, the Canarsie Yacht Club, the Jamaica Bay Yacht Club, the Greenvale Yacht Club, the Excelsior Yacht Club, the Seawanhaka Corinthian Yacht Club, the Passaic River Yacht Club, and the Indian Harbor Yacht Club, were among the organizations in this vicinity which celebrated the opening of the season in an appropriate manner, club sails and receptions at various club houses being the more popular forms of amusement.

THE MIDDLE STATES REGATTA ASSOCIATION held its annual meeting in this city May 14, and the following ticket was elected to serve during 1900: President, William Vanderveer, Passaic, B. C.; Newark; vice-president, Dr. J. P. Buckley, Wyandotte B. C.; secretary-treasurer, D. Brown, Atlanta B. C.; recording secretary, S. E. Phillips, Atlanta B. C.; regatta committee, J. G. Tighe, Sheepshead Bay B. C.; Albert Heyne, Atlantic B. C.; Frank Adee, Seawanhaka B. C.; Robert F. Milligan, Pennsylvania Barge Club, Philadelphia; D. H. McDougall, Clifton B. C.; Staten Island; J. F. Nagle, Harlem B. C.; Charles Fleck, Nonpareil B. C.; Capt. Avery, Fallside B. C.; Tonawanda.

AMBASSADOR CHARTER presented to Sir Thomas Lipton the loving cup subscribed for by American admirers of the owner of the Shamrock at a dinner given in honor of the event in London, Eng., May 24. Sir Thomas, in an appropriate speech, reiterated his intention to again try for the America Cup in these waters.

The Harlem Yacht Club.

Was favored with ideal wind and weather conditions for its annual regatta on Memorial Day, although the emphasis might properly be put upon the bright sunshine and balmy atmosphere, rather than on the force of the breeze prevailing during the afternoon. However, in spite of the fact that many starters did not complete the courses, which were laid out on Long Island Sound, off City Island, there was an abundance of enjoyment for all participants. SIR THOMAS LIPTON recently cabled an offer to donate $500 for a special trophy or as a cash prize, to be competed for by yachts belonging to the New York Yacht Club fleet, the style of craft and details of the competition to be left to the club's officials. The offer was accepted, and he later increased the amount to $1,000, a committee having been appointed, meanwhile, to take charge of the details.

Brooklyn Defeats New York.

The annual intercity interscholastic field meeting was held at Berkeley Oval, this city, on the afternoon of May 21, in presence of a fair sized crowd, mostly schoolmates of the competing youths, despite the rain that fell, spoiling the sport to a considerable extent. Nevertheless a number of good contests were witnessed, while, in view of the unfavorable conditions, some excellent performances were accomplished. The point prize was captured by the representatives of the New York schools, by a score of 112 to 63, while the delegation from Cutler School gained the distinction of winning the most points of any single institution, scoring 45. LACROSSE was played by teams belonging respectively to the Six Nations Indians and the Staten Island Lacrosse Club, at Columbia Field, this city, on Decoration Day, the visiting red men coming off victorious by a score of 14 to 3.

A LACROSSE MATCH was contested on June 1, at Ithaca, N. Y., between the teams representing the Indian visitors from Brantford, Ont., and Cornell University, the red men winning by a score of 5 to 1.

The Knickerbocker Carnival.

The customary several thousand spectators assembled at the grounds of the Knickerbocker Athletic Club, at Bayonne, N. J., on Wednesday, May 30, to enjoy the annual Decoration Day field sports under the auspices of that organization. This year, in view of the coming international championship races at the Paris Exposition, there was a change made in the distances of the track events, which were made to conform to those in vogue in France, to enable those who intend crossing the ocean to have the benefit of some practice at the distances at which they will then contend for honors. The weather was fine, and the path and infield were both in excellent condition; as a natural result, with material of such high quality competing in the different events, some capital performances marked the proceedings, and those who attended had a most enjoyable outing. Special interest was taken in the outcome of the all round weight handling competition, embracing four events, the winner of which proved to be Richard Sheldon, of the New York Athletic Club, with John Flanagan, of the same club, second in line. The point score was as follows: Sheldon, 14; Flanagan, 11; R. J. Sheridan, 7; W. W. Coe, 4. The team relay race, two miles and one-half, aroused the enthusiasm of the spectators, who bestowed lavish applause upon the victors, the Star A. C. delegation. A game of association football between the teams of the Scottish-American and Thistle Clubs, was won by the former by a score of five goals to nothing. Summary:

One hundred metres (100yds. 1ft.) run.—Won by George H. Hoffman, A. C. 2yds.; P. J. Walsh, N. Y. A. C., 2 1/2 yds.; second, William Marshall, Hartford, Conn., 4 1/2 yds., third. Time, 10 1/2 s.
